TEUTONS FORCED TO RUSH FORCES TO CHECK THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE

1,200,000 Italians May be Mobilized at Once—Belgians Renew Attack on Invaders—Jap Minister Foreign Affairs Lauds United States.

By Associated Press.

London, Sept. 5.—The English public, hungry for news of the operations of the allied armies in the western theater of war, had to content itself today with the brief official communications issued from Paris and Bordeaux. These only whetted the appetite.

MILITARY EXPERTS BELIEVE THE GERMANS ARE PREPARING FOR A GRAND ASSAULT UPON PARIS IN THE HOPE OF BEARING DOWN THE DEFENSE OF THE CAPITAL.

News of the withdrawal of the German troops towards the Prussian frontier is not generally credited here because with their supreme effort in the west as a primary object the Germans are hardly likely to weaken their forces.

News from northern Belgium indicates that the Belgian troops are recovering from the gruelling punishment inflicted upon them by the German invaders and are resuming their activities.

The Petrograd war office now estimates that the Russian victories in Galicia and the Servian victory at Jadar have so crippled the forces of the dual monarchy that only ten Russian army corps are needed to keep the Austrians in check.

If Paris falls the effect already has been more or less discounted in London as the war office has managed to convey the impression to the public that the capture of the French capital means only the prolongation of the war.

This phase of the situation, brought home to the British public, has unquestionably stimulated recruiting. There is no indication that the allies in the west intend to assume the aggressive. On the other hand, the indications are that if the Germans capture Paris, every effort will be made to render it a barren triumph by leading the Germans from position to position in a series of rear guard actions until the invaders are exhausted.

ALLIES AGREE TO STICK

LONDON—RUSSIA, FRANCE AND GREAT BRITAIN TODAY SIGNED AN AGREEMENT THAT NONE OF THE THREE WOULD MAKE PEACE WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF ALL THREE NATIONS.

TEUTONS CHANGING POSITION

London, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Copenhagen, dated Friday, says: "Berlin dispatches indicate that the Germans are throwing troops back eastward to meet Russian advance. The President of the German military staff, controlling the railways, states that the principal lines will close for the present. The rolling stock, it is believed, is now wanted for moving a large number of troops to the eastward. Further indications are that the points the troops are being withdrawn from are Alsace and Lorraine. All the German railroads are now closed to civil traffic and land communication from Berlin and Copenhagen has stopped.

ITALY TO MOBILIZE FORCES

Paris, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Midi from Rome, under today's date, says: "The order for general mobilization of Italian forces was still unsigned at the moment of telegraphing, but it is expected today.

BIG JAP PRAISES UNITED STATES

By Associated Press.

Tokio, Japan, Sept. 5.—Baron Kato, Minister of Foreign Affairs, reviewed at length, at the opening of the Diet today, the events leading up to the war with Germany.

He said that early in August England asked Japan's assistance and that Japan necessarily complied. After a full and frank exchange of views Japan advised the Germans of the Japanese "ultimatum" which was unanswered and war was declared. Baron Kato closed his speech with a tribute to the United States government.

TERMONDE IS DESTROYED

By Associated Press.

London, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam reports that Termonde, sixteen miles east of Ghent, has been hastily destroyed and that railway communication is interrupted.

DEADLY WORK OF GERMANS

By Associated Press.

New York, Sept. 5.—The German cruiser, Karlsruhe, has engaged and badly disabled the British cruiser, Bristol, off the coast of Hayti, according to H. H. Weissner, a lieutenant of the German army and leader of 78 Germans who arrived here today from Puerto, Colombia, on their way to join the colors.

New York, Sept. 5.—The Bowes Castle, a British freighter, has been sunk by the Karlsruhe, according to a cablegram received here today from Liverpool, off Maranhao, St. Lucia Island.

According to the cablegram which was received by J. F. Whitney and Company, steamship agents, the captain and crew of the Bowes Castle were taken off before the guns of the cruiser sent her to the bottom. They were safely landed at Maranhao.

The German lieutenant also said that a Dutch skipper had brought word to Puerto, Colombia, that the Karlsruhe had met and sunk the British cruiser, Glasgow, off the Colombian coast. This, however, he said, was denied by British officials in Georgetown.

Before meeting with the British, the lieutenant asserted, the Karlsruhe captured two British steamships transferred their passengers, crews and stores to the cruiser, and then sent the ship to the bottom.

After sinking the merchantmen the Karlsruhe sailed to a small island in the Caribbean Sea and there landed the people taken from the British ships. Sufficient food for a month was also left on the island. The marooned passengers and crew may be on the island yet, the lieutenant said. He had not heard that they had been taken off.

STAGGERING RESULT OF JADAR STRUGGLE

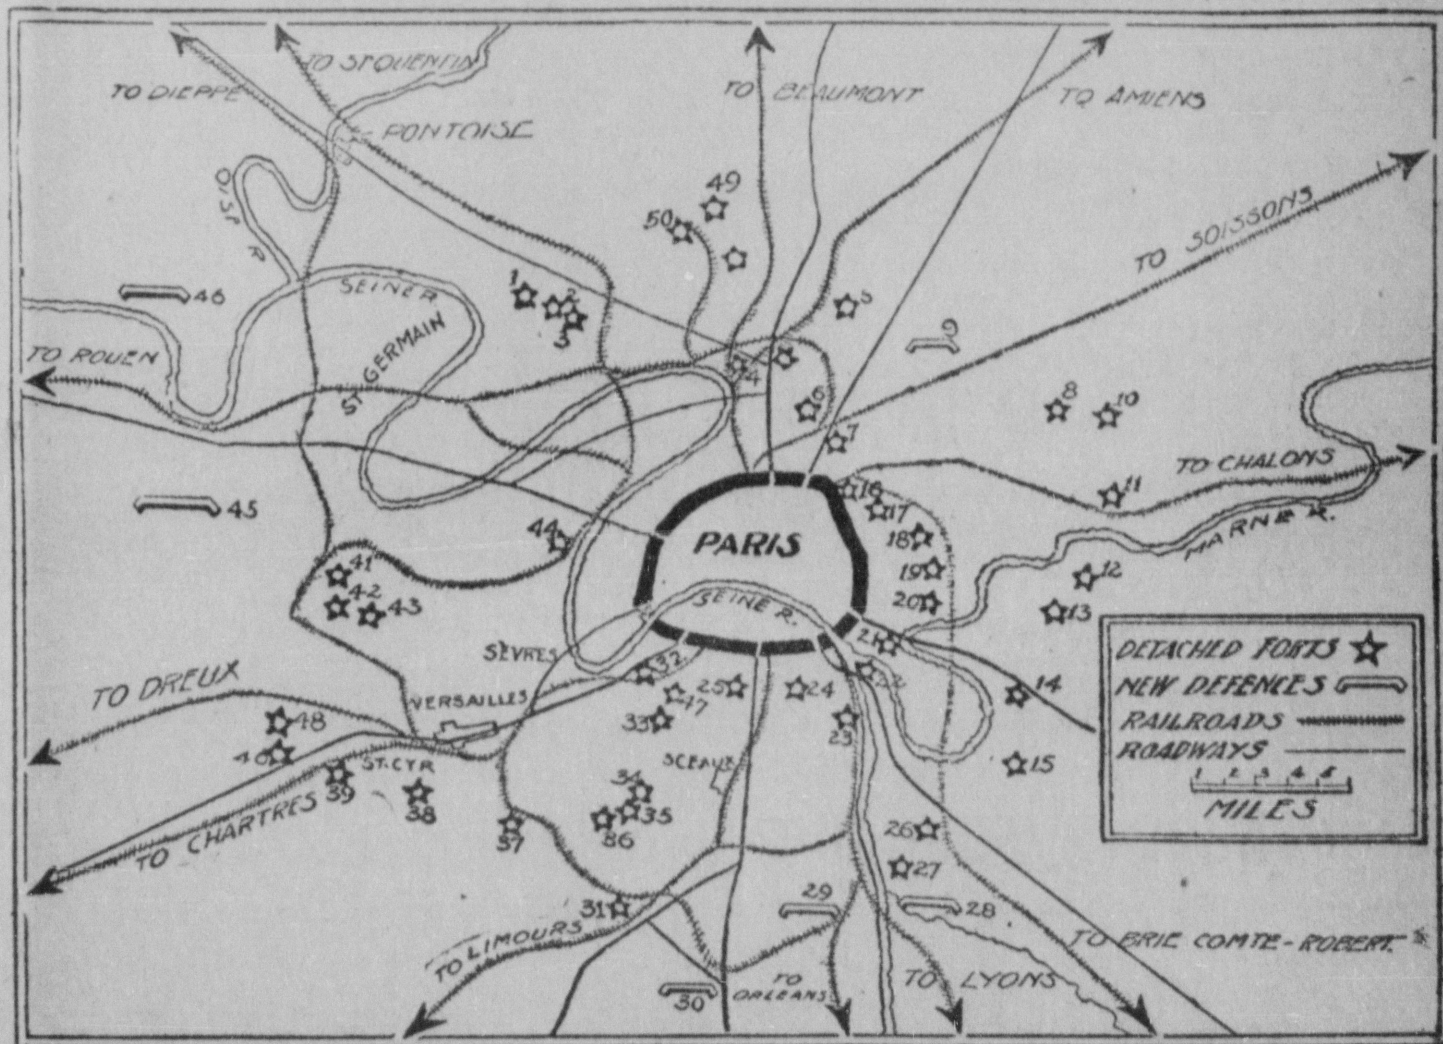

Nish, Servia, Sept. 5.—According to the Official Newspaper the following spoil was captured by the Servians in the battle of Jadar: 100 cannon, of which 92 were field guns; 8 siege guns; 2,500 horses; 3 hospitals of 3,000 beds; 37,000 Mauser rifles; 114 full caissons, containing 500 shells for each cannon; ammunition and 4600 prisoners, including a large number of officers and one military band with its conductor. Three regimental cash boxes, full of money, and one aeroplane also were taken. The Austrian dead are estimated to number between 30,000 and 32,000. General Yovanovitch reports that he alone had 10,000 of the enemy's bodies buried.

SHIFTTROOPS TO OPPOSE RUSSIANS

Paris, Sept. 5.—Five German army corps have arrived at the Vistula river, according to the Rome correspondent of the Paris Matin. These corps are mostly from Belgium and the north of France, the correspondent says, and were brought up to oppose the advance of the Russians.

BIG BELT OF STEEL SURROUNDS PARIS, FAR STRONGER THAN OLD FORTS OF 1871, WHEN GERMANS CAPTURED

Paris is far differently fortified from what it was in 1871, when it was captured by the Prussians. It now has 51 forts and batteries, practically all modern, encircling 600 square miles in a circumference of eighty-five miles. But it must be remembered also that the German army, which is fast approaching the city and probably will besiege it, is far better equipped for bombarding the forts than it was in 1871. Will things balance themselves up? Will the siege last longer than it did before? Will it be successful or a failure? Will it occur at all? The various forts working from the north of the city eastward and then to the south, with their positions and elevations, are as follows: Fort d'Ecouen, immediately south of Ecouen, with the Batterie des Sablons in its rear and another battery on its right flank; Fort de Vaujours, at an elevation of 396 feet, a little to the southeast of the Sevran-Livry powder mills and between Vaujours and Courtry; Fort de Chelles, immediately north of Chelles, at an elevation of 345 ft.; the fort close to Grenouillere, a little northeast of Villiers-sur-Marne, at an elevation of 347 ft.; Fort de Champigny, at elevation of 335 ft. above the bend of the Marne and between Chennieres and Champigny; the fort at Sury-en-Brie; the fort at Villeneuve-St. Georges; the fort at Palaiseau, with Batterie des Galines, the Batterie du Terrier, the Batterie de la Chataigneraie, the Reduit de Verrieres and other subsidiary works in its rear; the Bois de Verrieres; Fort Villiers, about mile south of Jouy; Fort du Haut Buc, at elevation of 542 ft., 2 miles south of Versailles; Batterie Bouviers (in rear of this and of Fort du Haut Buc are several works, including Batterie de la Porte du Desert, Batterie du Ravin des Boupiers, etc.); Fort de St. Cyr, and mile to the north of it Fort de Bois d'Arcy; (the system of works in that part of the Fort de Marly, between Marly le Roi and Bailly, include the Reduit, the Batterie du Champ de Mars, the Batterie de Vaubertier, the Batterie des Arches, etc.); Fort Cormeilles, at elevation of 556 feet, with a line of batteries and redoubts running for a considerable distance to the south-southeast across the neck of the peninsula formed by the bend of the Seine between Argenteuil and Montigny les Cormeilles; Fort de Domont; Fort de Montignion; Fort de Montmorency, at an elevation of 565 feet.

BIG BATTLE IMPENDING

French Report Partial Successes In Lorraine and the Vosges.

GERMAN DESTROYERS DAMAGED

Arrive at Kiel in Battered Condition, While Other Warships of the Same Class Are Reported Sunk Near the Canal—Antwerp Dispatch Has German Right Wing in Retreat—Statement of Paris Officials on the Operations in France.

London, Sept. 5.—German troops in great numbers have forced their way to Senlis, within twenty-five miles of the walls of Paris. Railway communication between Paris and Havre has ceased, indicating German occupation in the northwest to the North sea coast.

The military government of Paris issued this official statement: "The movements of the opposing armies near Paris are being continued without contact taking place. In the district of Verdun the German force has sustained some checks. In Lorraine and the Vosges our troops won fresh partial successes. The general situation is little changed."

Two German aeroplane scouts were reported killed in a battle with French aeroplanes, five miles east of Paris. Information has been received by the war press bureau that seven German torpedo boat destroyers have arrived at Kiel badly damaged. It is understood that other vessels of the same class were sunk near the Kiel canal.

Every able-bodied Briton of military age was called upon by Premier Asquith to rally to the national standard. Recruiting in England has improved so that divisions totaling 120,000 men are practically fully organized.

British, French and Belgian wounded are being transferred from Paris to cities in the south of France. The exodus of noncombatants from Paris assumes huge proportions. Every train for the south was crowded with refugees to its fullest capacity.

Struck a Mine.

The British torpedo gunboat Speedy struck a mine in the North sea and, presumably, has been lost.

A dispatch from Ostend says that it is reported that the German right wing has been checked and that the Germans have been compelled to retire on St. Quentin.

The Chronicle prints a dispatch from Rous, France, saying that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans in order to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire. This will only be done in case the outer line of the defenses of Paris is passed by the invaders.

A dispatch from Rome announces that six German army corps have been sent from France to repel the Russian advance in East Prussia and Galicia.

An official statement issued from St. Petersburg says that the Austrians are retreating after desperate fighting near Halicz, leaving 4,500 dead on the field, and that the Austrian attack in front of Warsaw was repulsed and that the Russians have now taken the offensive.

The press bureau here indicates a more determined German movement of invasion of France from the east and southeast.

GREAT BATTLE IS IMMINENT

London, Sept. 5.—Paris is awaiting news of the great battle that is expected at any moment to begin around the city's outlying forts. The opposing armies, according to official announcements, have not yet come into contact, but continue their movements taking positions. The war office declares that the Germans have been checked at Verdun and that the French armies have met with success in Lorraine and the Vosges. Thousands of Parisians are taking advantage of the free trains to points outside the military zone. British, French and Belgian wounded are being transferred from Paris to other cities. The principal newspapers of Paris have transferred their offices to Bordeaux.

HARDWARE FIRM IS EMBARRASSED

New York, Sept. 5.—With a credit rating of $2,000,000 and an annual net income of about $300,000, the firm of Hermann Boker & Co., wholesale dealers in hardware and cutlery, went into the hands of receivers because of its inability to negotiate further credit. The liabilities are estimated at $2,071,952 and the nominal assets at $2,658,345.

EXPERTS SAY VICTORY SURE

Berlin, Sept. 5 (by wireless via Sayville, L. I.)—Berlin is permanently decked with flags. Confidence prevails that nothing can stay the victorious advance of the German armies in France. Major Morant, the military expert, expects that the armies of Duke Albrecht and the crown prince soon will reach Chalons and Verdun, which can be easily masked without delaying the advance. These towns have lost their strategic importance.

Toul and Epinal (capital of the department of Vosges) may delay the armies of Prince Rupprecht and General Von Heeringen, but this is unimportant. Raids in upper Alsace are expected while Belfort is in the hands of the French.

The Lokal Anzeiger points out that the taking by the Germans of La Fere and Laon, France, almost without a blow means the capture of a position on the lines where the population had been reassured and which line the latest English papers received here asserted would hold out long against the Germans.

SHARP IS IN PARIS

Paris, Sept. 5.—The Matin, referring to the American, Spanish and Swiss embassies remaining in Paris, says: "It appears that Ambassador Herrick was the first to take the gallant initiative, which Paris will recognize," and adds that Ambassador Herrick, when making his choice, says that Paris appeared to him to be not only the capital of France, but to be like Marcus Aurelius's "City of the World," which must possess a government, perpetual if invisible.

William G. Sharp, the new American ambassador to France, arrived in Paris after an automobile run from Havre. Mr. Sharp says he intends to delay the presentation of his credentials to President Poincare for an indefinite time, until the present crisis has passed. Meanwhile he will study the situation and will search for a house and make other arrangements for his stay.

U. S. MUST CREATE A GOLD FUND

Troublesome Foreign Exchange Situation Aired.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The conference at the treasury department between the federal reserve board and the representatives of the clearing house associations from all parts of the country, resulted in action which probably will clear away the difficulties growing out of the present troublesome foreign exchange situation. The bankers were practically unanimous in the opinion that the United States must meet its present obligations to Europe in gold if the precious metal is demanded. No definite plan was adopted by the conference, but a most encouraging disposition was shown by bankers from all parts of the country to cooperate in the creation of a gold fund to meet the emergency.

As the result of this desire to cooperate, a committee headed by James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank of Chicago, was appointed to formulate a plan and submit it to the federal reserve board. No definite estimate is obtainable as to the amount of gold that may be required to meet the situation, but it was reported that the committee was considering the underwriting of $150,000,000.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Shoots Wife and Babe.

Columbus, Sept. 5.—Ruford Hunter, thirty-five, shot his divorced wife and three-year-old son William at the home of William Coleman, a brother, with whom Mrs. Hunter was staying. Mrs. Hunter is not seriously wounded, but the infant may not recover. "I did not mean to shoot my baby," said Hunter in his cell. "That was an accident. But I did mean to shoot my wife, for she has made a ruin of my life and she deserved to die."

State Fair Receipts.

Columbus, Sept. 5.—The total gate and grandstand receipts of the Ohio state fair so far reported are given as $60,512.75, corresponding to $70,846.75 last year. To the $60,512.75 there has been added this year from concessions enough to make a total of $71,026.34, which will be covered into the state treasury. The estimated cost of the state fair is $85,000 for the year.

Ban on War Talk.

Cleveland, Sept. 5.—"This court is neutral. No discussion of the European war permitted." Justice of the Peace Brown posted this notice on the door of his office. The notice, he said, was necessary because a number of litigants of different nationality almost came to blows during the course of a trial in his court yesterday.

Boy Loses Leg.

Kenton, O., Sept. 5.—Lawrence Drummond, ten, was caught under a set of cars in the railroad yards at Carey and his left leg was cut off. He was brought to a Kenton hospital.

West Withdraws From Race.

Bellefontaine, O., Sept. 5.—John E. West, son of the late Judge William West, known as "the blind man eloquent," withdrew from the race for common pleas judge.

YEGGS HOLD UP STATION

Glens Falls, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Two employees in the ticket office of a local railroad station were forced at the point of guns in the hands of a robber to open the cash drawer and safe, from which he helped himself to a sum estimated at $500. On leaving the office he fired two shots, one hitting Charles Harris, telegraph operator, in the leg; the other, fired at William J. Moynahan, the freight agent, missed him. The robber was joined by a companion and they covered William Roach, an auto cab driver, whom they engaged to take them to Lake George. Instead of complying, Roach drove to police headquarters. When the robbers realized that they had been tricked the man who had done the shooting in the station fired two shots at Roach, one of which took effect in the leg. Police overtook and arrested one of the men. The other escaped.

Pie Seasons.

Really there are two pie seasons—one when the blackberries, raspberries and blueberries are ripe and when apples are green and the other when the frost is on the pumpkin. The pies of the in between times are as lead to gold to the pies of other times. No pie except the pumpkin pie is a pie at all unless the juice runs from between the covers, the juice of ripened fruit charged with sun and dew. Custom makes us eat pie last. It is a hard rule, deemed only by the anticipation which helps us to go through the preliminary staples, glad in the thought of the delectable to come.—Chicago Post.

First to "Put His Foot In It."

It was a bishop of olden times who first "put his foot in it," and ever since then the most ordinary layman who makes a blunder is said to "put his foot in it."

It wasn't the bishop's fault after all, but the housewives who ran to doors and windows every time the good bishop passed and asked for his blessing and while getting it they let the porridge burn. Then they blamed the bishop for the trouble and said "the bishop put his foot in it."—Milwaukee Journal.

Tom Corwin had an enormous mouth. He once said he had been insulted by Deacon Smith. The good brother asked for further explanation about the insult.

"Well," said Corwin, "when I stood up in the lecture room to relate my experience and I opened my mouth Deacon Smith rose up in front and said, 'Will some brother please close that window and keep it closed?'"

Seymour's Long Hit.

There have been many sensational four baggers knocked out by the heavy sluggers of the big leagues, but a hit once made by Cy Seymour in Boston is the daddy of them all. A Fighting Year

Although neither one of the three political parties, contending for supremacy in Ohio this fall, has formally "opened" the campaign, sensational charges are now being handed out by the various candidates for office with the freedom and emphasis which gives promise of stirring times to come.

It is safe to say that never in the history of Ohio politics has there been such a breaking away from party lines.

The unusual spectacle of former Democratic leaders openly espousing the cause of Republican candidates and of avowed Republicans taking up the cudgel for the Democratic candidates, while both of the leading parties admit desertions from their ranks to the progressive party, is enjoyable to those who love excitement and uncertainty, and encouraging to those who see in every change in political customs and in every departure from political precedent a hopeful sign of progress.

That there will be much doing in political circles in Ohio this fall and that the light will be let into a number of places which have hitherto remained dark, is accepted as a foregone conclusion, in view of the way sensation after sensation has already, in advance of the beginning of the formal campaign, been sprung.

There will be, if the present plans of campaign are carried out, many unexplored regions opened to public inspection and many hidden lead strings exposed to view.

There are many open alliances with former political enemies and many secret understandings which involve downright treachery. In all likelihood there will be more "come out in the wash" this fall than ever before.

While it may be an unpleasant sort of a campaign to listen to and while there may be many disagreeable features connected with it, yet on the whole it will be helpful to those who are endeavoring to bring about the observance of a higher code of ethics in politics and in the public service.

The entrance of a third party into the arena of politics with its demonstrated strength and emphatic declaration of principles has been, perhaps, the greatest single factor in breaking the old political alignments and creating the present chaos in Ohio politics.

There seems to be something in the air this year nineteen fourteen, which makes men want to fight anyway, and while the people of other nations are caught in the maelstrom of war, Americans seem to be finding an outlet for their inclination to fight in the field of politics.

A new political line-up in this country is overdue now. Most of the old political issues upon which Democrats and Republicans took opposite sides for so many years, have been settled or brushed aside. There are many men today who have been calling themselves Democrats who are in fact, Republicans, and vice versa.

Really there is now, and has been for some time, only one vital difference between the voters of this country. In these times one must either be a progressive or a reactionary and it is the effort of the voters to line up on either side of the one big issue which is causing most of the commotion. The one big issue refuses to longer be concealed in a mass of trivialities and evasions about issues which are no longer of interest.

It is the effort of the two older political parties to cast out the discordant elements, more than a difference over old issues, which is causing the commotion.

The men who pursue political pelf are finding it difficult indeed to find a political home these days and until one or the other of the political parties has established its supremacy as the champion on the big issue, they may be counted upon to keep any political port which they enter for shelter, in a turmoil.

Poetry For Today

LEAD US AGAIN.

Father, our hopes are bivouacked in our hearts,
Our fears and prayers are all a-wing to Thee!

Stretch out Thy holy hand, we humbly ask,
And lead us with Thy clear, all solving light

Out of the desolate darkness of our time,
As Thou didst in the bleak, black ages gone.

Give us again the sight that we may see;
Once more set spinning all the looms of Peace;

Rekindle reason, faith, good-will on earth.

Lord, Thy almighty arm alone can quench,

The fire that girdles all the world with woe,

Drench Thou the pyre of flesh and bone and blood

Whose glare reflects the stubborn pride of Kings

And shows the fellowship of man at end!

The flow'r of sturdy nations withers fast.

And fruits of mellowed genius rot apace

In shell swept trench of many battlefields;

Babes sleep unmothered in their cradle nests

While orphaned children weep in wakeful dreams,

And women robbed of father, husband, son,

Trudge troubled through the dust clouds of the plow.

Christ did not die upon the Cross for this!

SCARED BY A FISH

Or Maybe It Was a New Species of Inland Sea Monster.

A VISION IN RED EAGLE LAKE.

It Couldn't Have Been a Dream, the Angler Admits That, Nor a Bear, Nor a Shark, Though It Did Look Like a Dog, but Anyhow and Luckily It Got Away.

In camp on Red Eagle lake in the Glacier National park, devoured by mosquitoes as big as cultures, as fierce as tigers and as numerous as drops of water in the Pacific ocean!

This is a bad beginning for a fish story. The language seems to suggest that the narrator has already become unreliable. As a matter of fact, phrases which are strictly accurate may be palpably misleading.

The language of hyperbole is needed to present an adequate picture. Perhaps the mosquitoes are not quite so big or fierce or numerous as stated, but they seem to be.

But to the fish story. And the language of vivid metaphor shall be laid aside. What follows is fact—unadorned, unexaggerated fact. I could not have dreamed it. I cannot even now that I have begun to put pen to paper hope to tell it in such a way as to bring the scene with realizing earnestness before the eye of my brother anglers.

It was evening. I was on the lake alone in my little canvas boat. The fishing had been good. I was returning to camp satisfied. The sack of fish, my fishing kit, discarded tackle, the net, etc., lying at the bottom of the boat, it seemed safer to leave the rod to poke out over the stern, the flies trailing the water—out of mischief, as I thought, where they could not get tangled with any of the truck.

So I rowed along gently, happy in the slaughter I had accomplished and wishing my friends had been with me to do their share. And the rod shot over the stern of the boat before my very eyes!

I had the presence of mind not to make a forward dart and grab for it as it disappeared. Such a violent movement would undoubtedly have collapsed my collapsible boat. I sat in speechless amazement, too startled for thought.

And then close by a mighty splashing and plunging. I turned and saw on the top of the water something swimming, a red brown head and shoulders. I was frightened. It was so huge.

I thought of a bear, of a shark, and stories of sea monsters flashed through my mind. The thing was swimming slowly. What I could see of it looked for all the world like the head of a magnificent St. Bernard dog I used to own.

Then I came to myself. I realized that this was a fish of a species not known to me and of an incredible, unheard of size. He had taken my fly, had hooked himself on to the rod which he had dragged overboard and was swimming slowly because he was drawing it along the bottom of the lake.

I chased him. He dived, came up again with a splashing like that of an elephant in a pond and smashed down again. Almost I could keep up with him, so slowly did he swim and so much time did he waste in his frantic efforts to get free.

If I had been able to row properly, facing in a direction opposite to the one in which I was moving, I believe I could have overtaken him. But I needed to keep my eye on him, and so had to backwater with the oars, losing power at every stroke. I was thinking slowly. I was still too stunned to think normally. I was puzzled by the fact that such a monster did not break my frail tackle in a moment. There was no resistance so long as the forty yards of line continued to unwind or the rod to move easily through the water.

As often as he swung over and dropped down on the six foot leader it simply yielded beneath him. Five times he rose, and the fifth time I was quite near him. He seemed to be anything from four feet to six feet long. I have at home a muskellunge which I caught five years ago in the St. Lawrence river. He weighed thirty-two pounds and measures forty-seven inches. This fellow was much bigger and more terrifying. And I have no other means of guessing at his size and weight.

Then with the sixth leap and dive something gave, and the monster was seen no more. I rowed slowly back to camp actually unnerved by the adventure. Literally—and he who will may laugh at me—I felt afraid to be alone in the falling evening light, alone on a piece of water inhabited by such creatures as the one who had pursued me and whom I had pursued.

I was glad to hear the friendly hail of my guide from the landing place of logs which we had constructed, to see the glare of the campfire and to sniff the smell of supper. Then I reckoned up my loss—a rod, $35; a reel, $17.50, and a four dollar line—nearly $60 worth of property at the bottom of Red Eagle lake!—Rev. C. F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., in New York American.

ENGINEERING FEATS.

Clever Tricks With Which Emergencies Have Been Met.

Engineering is filled with so many tricks to meet emergencies that most of them pass unnoticed, but two have recently attracted the attention of engineers because of their real oddity.

One was a scheme for stopping a blazing leak in a big high pressure gas main in San Francisco. Some unknown men who wanted to make trouble set off a chemical preparation on the gas main, with the result that in a few seconds a hole had been melted in the main, the gas poured out and a great flame shot twenty-five feet in the air. It was then after midnight, and it was very inadvisable to shut the big main off, so it was decided to make an attempt to stop the leak without shutting off the gas.

An oil well trick was used. An iron pipe six inches in diameter and twenty feet long was stood on end beside the gas main and then by careful manipulation placed directly over the leak. This sent the leaking gas shooting through the pipe and flaming out at the top twenty feet in the air. Some gas leaked out at the bottom of the pipe, but this was easily stopped, so the only flame was that at the top of the pipe.

Ropes had been attached to the pipe, and finally at a given signal the ropes were yanked and the pipe was thrown many feet away from the gas main. The pipe carried the flame with it. The leaking gas then shot directly into the air from the main, but as there was no flame near it it did not burn. It was then a comparatively simple task to plug the hole until permanent repairs could be made.

The other scheme was to get to the top of a high chimney without using scaffolding or other expensive methods. The chimney rose two hundred feet beside a Missouri power plant, and it was proposed to attach a sign running up and down its side. A little parachute with a stout cord attached was pushed into the chimney at the bottom, the flue gases carried it to the top and then out into the air. It fell on one side, dragging the cord after it. Then by means of the cord a rope was passed up outside of the chimney and down the inside and the chimney top was accessible.—Saturday Evening Post.

Preparedness of Little Belgium Distinct and Unpleasant Surprise For Germany

By HUDSON MAXIM, Inventor of Smokeless Powder

SO FAR AS I KNOW, GERMANY, FRANCE AND ENGLAND EACH HAS ABOUT FIVE HUNDRED MILLION POUNDS OF GUNPOWDER, AND IT MAY BE THAT THE WAR WILL LAST UNTIL IT IS ALL GONE. AS TO RUSSIA I HAVE NO INFORMATION. THE FRENCH HAVE BETTER FIELD GUNS THAN THE GERMANS, ALTHOUGH THE KAISER'S ARMY HAS A LARGER NUMBER, AND THE FRENCH GUNS CAN SHOOT FARTHER AND CAN BE MORE EASILY HANDLED. STILL, THE MEN BEHIND THE GUNS ARE THE FACTORS, AFTER ALL, AND, SO FAR AS I CAN LEARN, THE GERMAN ARMY IS GIVING A GOOD ACCOUNT OF ITSELF, AND I THINK IT WILL SHOW UP VERY WELL AS A FIGHTING FACTOR IN THE PRESENT WAR IN EUROPE.

A distinct surprise, though, was the preparedness of Belgium. There was an idea that the little nation could offer little or no resistance to the German army, but when the time came IT WAS DISCOVERED THAT SHE WAS A VERITABLE ARSENAL and had been making preparations for such emergencies without any of the other nations, I think, being aware of the fact. The Belgium forces are equipped with lots of big guns and are prepared to continue some heavy fighting. IT SEEMS THAT BELGIUM HAS NOT TAKEN MUCH STOCK IN PEACE THEORIES.

GOVERNOR'S CUP COMES TO WELL KNOWN HORSEMAN

Billings Trophy, Given for Best 2-Year-Old Trotter at State Fair, Is Presented to Mr. Chas. Allen, by Governor Cox and is Now on Exhibition Here—Baroness Wins in Straight Heats.

The Billings Cup, better known as the Governor's Cup, given to the winning two-year-old trotter at the State Fair, was Friday afternoon won by Mr. Charles Allen, of this city, and the beautiful trophy may now be seen on display in Craig Bros.' show window, where it is attracting much attention among citizens in all walks of life.

The presentation was made by Governor Cox, amid great applause, after Baroness, 2:24 1/4, the handsome bay filly, owned by Mr. Allen, had won the two-year-old trotters' race, purse $1,000, in straight heats, the time being 2:31 1/2 and 2:24 1/4.

In carrying off the trophy, Mr. Allen was the envy of all owners of two-year-old trotters, many of whom had an eye on the cup.

The cup, coming as it does to Fayette county, not only draws still more attention to Mr. Allen as a breeder of genuine blue-blooded trotters, but all the more firmly establishes Fayette county as a producer of the best horse flesh in the country.

In speaking of the Governor's Cup and the races in general, the Journal of Saturday says in part:

"To Washington C. H., as the permanent possession of Charles Allen, the Billings trophy went Friday. The presentation was made by Governor James M. Cox, after Baroness, Allen-owned and driven, had won the Ohio state fair race for 2-year-old trotters. The filly, a handsome and growthy one, carried the class of the field, in which was Directress Banks, owned by the governor himself.

"By doing the second heat all by herself, Baroness unbottled just the amount of speed that Mr. Allen desired her to show. She obtained a record of 2:24 1/4, seven seconds and a fraction better than that made in the first heat, during which Sidney Forbes was the leader most of the way.

There was some comedy in the race, the first of its kind ever promoted by the Ohio State Fair Association. Orator Forbes supplied the fun by making himself, as several experts declared, the slowest trotter ever in a race. He's a fashionably bred colt, but Friday wasn't his speed-showing day. Steve Phillips, veteran reinsman from the home of Baroness, had him in charge.

Finishing the get-away program was a long task. In three class races all the winners of early heats went overboard. To be exact, 19 heats were contested and lamps were lighted before the final one was started. One driver, D. M. Bell, was lifted, and one pacer, Hal Venture, took a tumble.

After Maud Colby had a pair of heats in the 2:18 pace, she faded, and The Christian came forward. Douglass Thomas of Paris, Ky., landed his only race of the week when he put Nancy Baldwin over in the 2:22 trot. Glenwood B from London secured the first two heats and then gave it up, the 3rd going to McKinney A C, that forfeited third money by not coming out to start in the sixth heat. Nancy's beginning was made in the fourth mile and she was far the best at endurance.

Things happened, while the 2:23 pace was on. Richard, a la Nancy Baldwin, took the race by winning the last three of six heats. The first two were pipes for Fox M, a Washington C. H. pacer, who tired so badly in the long struggle that he was flagged out of the last mile and second money.

In the third heat D M B and Richard were after Fox M. They tied into him on the far turn and came by boiling. It was a pretty finish with the "initial" pacer winning from Richard in 2:11 1/4. D M B, for some reason or other, barely beat the flag in the fourth heat, and the judges were looking, too.

TURKS HAVE MIXUP AND ONE ABSCONDS

Albert Harb, a Turk from Turkey in Asia, was in this city a day or two ago endeavoring to locate Albert Harb, a fake, who had learned that the real Albert Harb had ordered certain goods shipped, and had claimed the goods.

Harb learned that the deceiver had gone to Chillicothe, so he hid himself to Chillicothe, located the man who had flim-flammed him out of goods worth $45 and tried to make him settle. The fake Harb agreed to settle, but got away, leaving empty suitcases to the real Harb.

The real Harb had ordered $150 worth of Oriental goods shipped to Dayton, and fearing that the fake Harb might claim them at that point, he rushed to Dayton to prevent such a trick being played upon him.

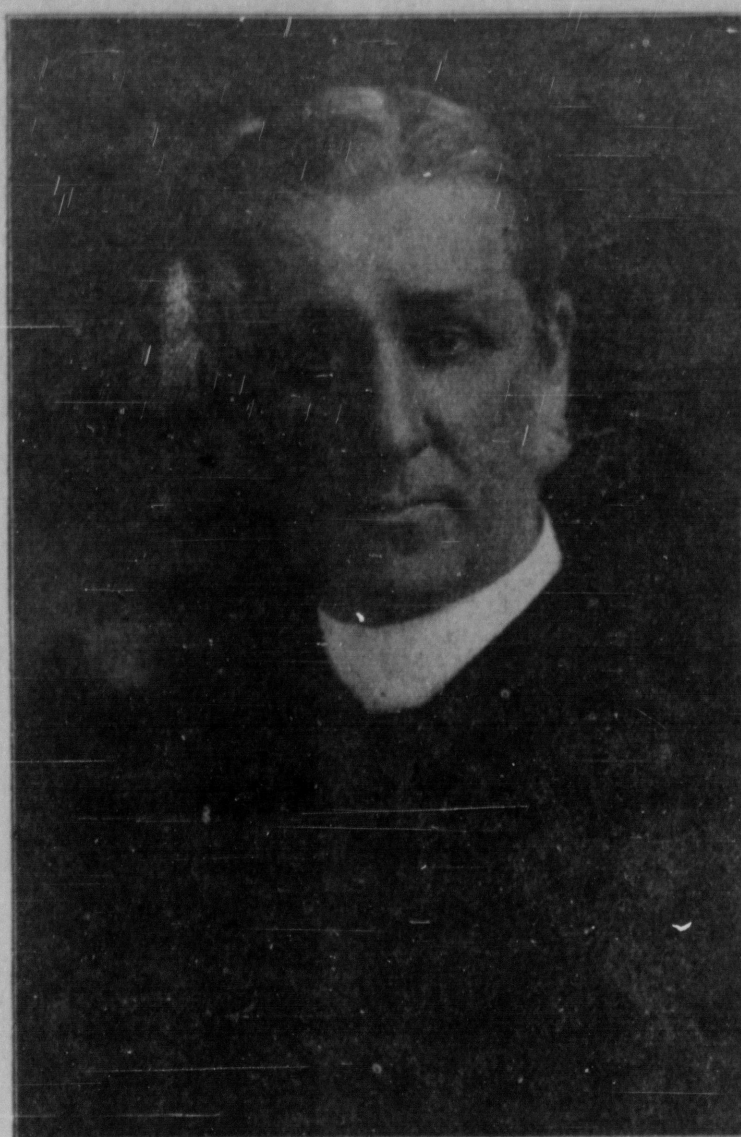

What happened in Dayton has not yet been learned, but the one Turk threatens all kind of dire vengeance upon the other if he again lays hands upon him.

URGES INCREASE OF LAND FORCES

Premier Asquith Appeals to the British Public.

SAYS EMPIRE IS MENACED

Declares Burning of Louvain, Belgium, a Great Crime Against Civilization, and Refers to Alleged Outrages on the Part of What He Terms "Buccaneering Adventurers." Has Praise For English Navy.

London, Sept. 5.—Premier Asquith made the first of a series of appeals for an increase of the British land forces. At a meeting at Guild Hall he described the empire as involved in a bloody arbitrament of "might versus right," and urged every able-bodied Briton of military age to join the colors.

Premier Asquith detailed the heroic efforts of the Belgian forces. He mentioned the siege of Liege and enumerated alleged outrages on the part of what he termed "buccaneering adventurers." He declared that the greatest crime against civilization was the sacking of Louvain. "This shameful holocaust," the premier continued, "was performed by blind barbarian vengeance. Sooner than stand aside, we would see this country of ours blotted from the pages of history."

The British prime minister declared that the invasion of Belgium was the first step in a greater policy to crush the freedom and autonomy of the free states of Europe.

The navy, the premier indicated, already was doing its part. It had sealed up the fleet of Germany, he said, and was thirsty for a trial of strength in the open. British warships, Asquith said, had hunted the German mercantile marine from the high seas, and when the few German cruisers which still roam the distant ocean had been disposed of, as they would be very soon, the navy would have achieved for British and neutral commerce a security as complete as it had ever enjoyed in the days of unbroken peace.

TURKEY NEUTRAL

Washington, Sept. 5.—Turkey's intention in the present emergency is to remain entirely neutral, according to dispatches received by Rustem Bey, the Turkish ambassador here. The following is the text of the cablegram from Constantinople: "I hereby inform you that by reason of the neutrality she has adopted Turkish military authorities are ordered to insure by every possible means the perfect protection of merchant vessels of belligerents and of neutral states taking refuge in her ports."

The ambassador said he interpreted this as direct confirmation from his government that Turkey had not declared war, and that she will insist upon her neutrality. He said this cablegram contradicted all rumors of war by Turkey.

The cable was sent by the Turkish minister of foreign affairs and left Constantinople Sept. 3.

INDICTMENTS END CRUSADE

Washington, Sept. 5.—The first definite results of the federal government's crusade against alleged conspiracies to manipulate food prices came when thirty-one persons, including well known provision and commission merchants of this city, were indicted by the grand jury on a charge of unlawfully engaging in a combination in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

It is charged that they had daily meetings at which prices they paid for food products were fixed and that they obtained a monopoly of the local market in foodstuffs which permitted the members of the alleged conspiracy to fix arbitrary and excessive prices.

Attorney General Gregory is gratified at the result of the department's crusade into the recent rise in food prices. He declared that whenever convictions are obtained he will insist on the prison sentences instead of fines. Said he:

"Under conditions now existing throughout the world, capitalization of misfortune and the oppression of our own people by the arbitrary increase of the prices of foodstuffs are so peculiarly reprehensible that whenever convictions can be obtained the government will insist upon sentences of imprisonment—no fine and no civil remedy will be deemed adequate. United States district attorneys are being instructed promptly to ask for indictments whenever the facts will permit, to push these cases to an early trial, and upon conviction to insist upon prison sentences."

BRYAN ASKS FOR MILLION

Washington, Sept. 5.—Secretary of State Bryan forwarded a communication to congress urging that an appropriation of $1,000,000 be made immediately available for the purpose of the foreign service of the United States. The secretary of state pointed out that the work of administration in the department had been vastly increased because of exigencies brought on by the European war. He instanced the expenditure of large sums for cable and telegraph tolls incident to inquiries about the whereabouts of Americans abroad, and said that other expenses had increased accordingly.

COLUMBUS MEN DRAWN IN NET

Columbus, Sept. 5. — Four officials of the Capital City Dairy company were indicted by the United States grand jury for alleged conspiracy and fraud in connection with the manufacture of artificially colored oleomargarine. A local chemist and the company's agent at Pittsburg were indicted for conspiracy to defraud. Those indicted were: Dennis Kelly, president of the Capital City Dairy company; W. H. Herbst, vice president and general manager; M. Leo Corbett, secretary; C. A. Hayes, treasurer; O. S. Marckworth, chemist; W. H. Kelly of Pittsburg, agent for the dairy company. The Capital City Dairy company, as a corporation, was also indicted on the charge of fraud.

The indictments are based on the government's contention that during a period 12 years the officers of the Capital City Dairy company have defrauded the government out of more than $10,000,000 by paying only one-fourth of a cent per pound revenue tax on colored oleomargarine, upon which a tax of 10 cents a pound should have been paid.

Bonds of $15,000 each were demanded and given by the defendants. Trial of the cases will not be started until the regular term of the United States court here, which convenes in December. Fine and imprisonment are attached to conviction. It is alleged that palm oil was used in the artificial coloration.

KAFFIR "BOY" SERVANTS.

They Bathe and Oil Themselves and Then Don Filthy Clothes.

Most of the "domestic" work in South Africa is done by the Kaffirs, who are called "boys," no matter what their age may be.

When the Kaffir boys come from the kraals no one ever uses their native names. As soon as they are brought into contact with the whites they take a "white" name. This produces results not lacking in the elements of humor.

Among the house boys "Knife," "Fork" and "Spoon" are common names. "Table," "Chair," "Carriage," "Watch" and "Matchbox" are others more infrequently used. There is of record one boy who took the utilitarian name of "Ham and Eggs."

The Kaffirs are very fond of rice when they learn to eat it among the whites, and one stable boy thought he had found the finest name in the world in "Rice."

In some respects the Kaffirs are the cleanest people in the world. They are forever scrubbing themselves in hot water and anointing themselves with oil afterward. But the habit does not extend to their clothes. They will take an elaborate bath and then don clothes that never saw the wash-tub.—Washington Star.

AMERICAN GETS FIRST AUDIENCE

Pope Benedict to Hold First Consistory Next Tuesday.

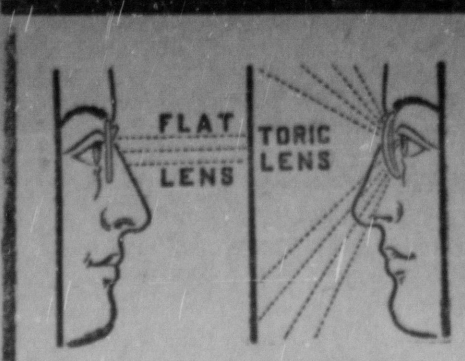

Rome, Sept. 4.—The first act of Giacomo Della Chiesa, who will be crowned supreme pontiff on Sunday, bearing the name of Benedict XV., was to appoint his predecessor's nephew canon of St. Peter's basilica.

Cardinal O'Connell arrived in Rome yesterday evening, the delay being due to a breakdown of his automobile. He has not yet had his audience with the pope. Cardinal Gibbons arrived in Rome shortly before noon, and expressed his gratification that he was the first cardinal to arrive of those who were too late to participate in the conclave. He attended the ceremony where homage was rendered to the new pontiff, and after the Te Deum the pope insisted on having an audience with him. Cardinal Gibbons said later that the pope had been most kind to him and had spoken in the highest terms of America. "He was greatly pleased that he had accorded the first audience to an American cardinal," said Cardinal Gibbons. "He sent his blessing to America through me."

The pope will hold his first consistory next Tuesday, when he will confer the red hat on two cardinals. The same day the new pontiff will deliver his first allocution, when he will make public the program of his pontificate.

ONE WAY TO PAY A DEBT.

A Suit That Lincoln Settled in His Own Peculiar Manner.

A crack brained attorney who lived in Springfield, supported mainly by the other lawyers of the place, became indebted in the sum of $2.50 to a wealthy citizen of the county. The creditor, failing after repeated efforts to collect the amount due him, came to Mr. Lincoln and asked him to bring suit. Lincoln explained the man's condition and circumstances and advised his client to let the matter rest, but the creditor's temper was up, and he insisted on bringing suit. Again Lincoln urged him to let the matter drop, adding, "You can make nothing out of him, and it will cost you a good deal more than the debt to bring suit."

The creditor was still determined to have his way and threatened to seek some other attorney who would be more willing to take charge of the matter than Lincoln appeared to be. Lincoln then said, "Well, if you are determined that suit shall be brought I will bring it, but my charge will be $10." The creditor paid over the money and gave peremptory orders that the suit should be brought that very day.

After his client's departure Lincoln went out of the office. He returned in about an hour with an amused look on his face. I asked what pleased him, and he replied: "I brought suit against — and then hunted him up, told him what I had done, handed him half of the $10, and we went over to the squire's office. He confessed judgment and paid the bill." Lincoln added that he did not see any other way to make things so generally satisfactory.—"The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln."

Story Tellers and Liars.

Who Says Hens Have No Brains?

"Hens have no brains," declared the wife of a modern farmer as she chased a fat old Wyandotte toward the roosting place she should have sought voluntarily.

Before I could challenge the woman's statement the hen by a brilliant strategic movement completely eluded her pursuer and with a triumphant cackle disappeared in the tall grass. The method of her escape showed brains, there could be no two opinions about that, but it was her cackle that should have settled any wavering doubt in the mind of her detractor, for that cackle was uttered at exactly the right moment, not an instant too soon, not a second too late. And it takes brains to know just when to cackle.—Atlantic

UNDER A FLAG OF TRUCE.

A Reunion and a Compact Between the Blue and the Gray.

My father was a private in the Twenty-sixth Michigan and often told the following story, although I was never wise enough to make a note of the date or the name of the engagement. There can be no doubt, however, of the substantial accuracy of the tale.

There had been fighting, but a flag of truce had passed from the Confederate to the Union lines, and firing was suspended. The lines were close together and both behind cover. As the white flag passed out of sight toward headquarters the lines simply flowed together, meeting in the vacant space between. Officers on both sides tried to prevent it, but their efforts were fruitless. Little groups formed here and here and began to barter.
The grays had tobacco, and the blues had coffee and a little sugar, and trade was lively for a time. Then they fell to discussing other things,
and to understand their conversation
it ought to be explained that the practice of firing on a picket line was regarded by these soldiers, hardened though they were by the awful sights
of a dozen bloody fields, as little better than murder. Said a gray:

"Why do you fellows fire on picket?"

Blue—Why do you fire on picket?"

Gray—Well, we don't, only when that old Colonel B. from North Carolina is officer of the day; then we have to. He makes us do it. But I tell you, Yank, we'll shoot high! Yes,
Yank, we'll shoot high!

The flag of truce came back; the negotiations had failed. The lines reformed, and firing began again. Once more poor humanity referred to the rifle and bayonet the questions it could settle in no other way. But, who can doubt that in the hearts of all who witnessed the dramatic scene there was less bitterness than before the truce? There was no vulgar, sordid quarrel; no bitter, personal vendetta.
Each side was pledged to the support of antagonistic principles, to maintain which they had staked their lives, but they had no quarrel with their opponents as men.—Youth's Companion.

The New Way.

Dorothy and Eleanor met one morning out at the country club.

"Does Florence look any different since she and her husband have separated?" asked Dorothy.

"Oh, yes," was the reply. "She wears her hair in a divorce."

"Heavens!" exclaimed Dorothy.

"How's that?"

"Why," smiled Eleanor, "parted, of course."—Detroit Free Press.

OUTFIELDER CONNOLLY, SLUGGER FOR THE BRAVES, HITS 'EM HARD

Boston, Sept. 5.—Outfielder Joseph Connolly is one of the factors in the success of the Braves. He is hitting above .300, and many of his old and was born in Woonsocket, R. I.

CONNOLLY

TRAGIC SLEEPWALKING.

Incident Upon Which Bellini Based His Celebrated Opera.

Somnambulists can maintain their footing in the most perilous places so long as they remain in a state of som-nambulism, but if suddenly awakened
they instantly lose their self possession and balance.

On one occasion a young woman living in Dresden was seen at midnight walking on the edge of the roof of her house. Her family were immediately told of her plight, but were afraid to go near her. The neighbors gathered about the house and placed mattresses and blankets along the street in hopes that they might save her in case she fell.

She danced for over an hour on the slanting roof, apparently retaining her balance without difficulty, and every now and then she would advance to the edge and bow to the silent crowd standing many feet below her.

At last she climbed down on to the wide gutter which ran in front of the window through which she had come,
with the evident intention of re-entering the house. The crowd watching her so intently drew a sigh of relief.
But, unfortunately, her terrified relatives, thinking to assist her, had placed two lighted candles in the room near the window, and as she approached the light fell directly in her eyes.

Instantly the shock awakened her,
and she swayed back and forth in her perilous position; then, with a frightful scream, she fell headlong to the ground.
She was fatally hurt and died in a few hours. It was on this tragedy that Bellini wrote his celebrated opera "La Sonnambula."

to use an overdrawn illustration, that a railroad train was going forward at the rate of 100 miles per minute and a gun was fired from the rear of the train in the opposite direction. If the velocity of the bullet as it left the gun would also have been 100 miles per minute had the gun been discharged
by a person standing on solid ground,
would the bullet leave the gun at all,
and if so, at what rate of speed?" Edgar Lucien Larkin in the New York American says:

"The bullet would leave the muzzle
of the gun with a speed of 100 miles per minute; the force of the explosive in the gun is the cause of the motion of the bullet, not that of the train. At the exact end of one minute the rear of the train and the bullet would be 200 miles apart. Before the gun is fired the bullet is moving with the train; at time of firing the bullet is
at rest during an infinitesimal of time or a differential of time. The time in between the stopping of the motion of the bullet with the train and beginning of motion from the train is mathematically called a consecutive state and is such an important element of human knowledge that the highest branch of mathematics, the differential calculus,
only is able to completely explore its wonderful properties."

Old Book Advertisement.

The advertising of children's book-does not seem to have advanced in ingenuity since the time of old John Newbery. Here is a specimen of his art from the Morning Chronicle in December, 1767: "This day was published
'Nurse Truelove's New Year's Gift, or
the Book of Books For Children,' adorned with cuts and designed as a present for every little boy who would become a great man and ride upon a fine horse and to every little girl who would become a great woman and ride in a lord mayor's gilt coach. Printed for the author, who has ordered these books to be given gratis to all little boys and girls at the Bible and Sun in St. Paul's churchyard, they paying for the binding, which is only twopence
each book."—London Chronicle.

Strict About Guns.

Any one who handles a gun in Germany is held to more strict accountability than in America. A member of a hunting party in Prussian Saxony asked permission of a comrade to examine his gun. The owner handed it over, and while the man was examining it the gun was discharged, instantly killing a young woman standing near by. The owner of the gun was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, while the man who was handling the gun has to serve only a six months' term.
The court held that the owner was criminally negligent in not withdrawing the cartridge. The man who held the weapon was treated more leniently because he was an inexperienced hunter.

No Particular Hurry.

Brown and his wife were at a moving picture show.
In the play on the screen the villain had just thrown the hero from a high cliff.
"Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Brown, "I hope the officers hurry up and catch the wretch!"
"Have patience, dear," said her husband. "The operator is turning the reel as fast as he dares."—Judge.

Borneo's Animal Curiosities.

In Borneo winged creatures are encountered where one would least expect them. Flying fish the size of herrings are found in all the waters,
and there is the flying fox, the well known fruit eating bat, which the Ma-lays call "kruang."

Unsympathetic.

"Does Alice bring her troubles to you now as she used to?"
"No; not since I began pointing out to her that she was to blame for having them."—Boston Transcript.

Sugar as Food.

With the temperature 62 below zero
Shackleton and his men, in their antarctic exploration, in marching took two or three lumps of sugar each every two hours. Within ten minutes of eating these they could feel the heat going through their bodies.

When Dumas Really Thought He Had Started a New Fashion.

Alexandre Dumas, the famous French romancer, was as recklessly extravagant as he was abnormally
stout, and more than once found himself in awkward straits. Indeed, he was often enough without the commonest necessities, even of dress, as when anxious to attend an ambassador's reception he discovered he was without a single clean shirt among his linen. A friend who chanced to be with him at the time volunteered to go and buy one, only to find that none of the shops had in stock a garment sufficiently large to encircle the novelist's generous girth of neck and chest.

At last, when on the point of relinquishing his search, Dumas' friend came upon a shop where a shirt called
"the hercules" was advertised. The name struck him as being one of good omen, and he entered. But, alas, they had nothing approaching the size required, unless, indeed, their customer would care to take one made to order of a very corpulent Quarter Latin student, by whom it had been left on their hands. Although covered with little red devils carving about in red flames, it was a case of Hobson's choice, so the shirt was purchased and taken home to Dumas, who, doubtless entering into the humor of the situation, resolved to wear it at the reception.

"You would hardly believe it," he said afterward, "but my costume was an immense success, and I really think I have started a fashion of deviled shirts for evening wear."—London Tit-Bits.

Ladies First.

"Some day you may be president of the United States," said the candidate who was out getting next to the hearts of the people.

"You won't make any hit with that kind of talk around here," replied the small boy. "We're a votes for women family. Go tell it to sister."—Washing-

STARTED TROUBLE BRAKEMAN ENDS IT

Considerable excitement was created on the southbound passenger train on the D. T. & I., Friday, by a man whom the trainman claim had been drinking heavily, and who, it is claimed, cursed and abused those about him in a very shocking manner.

It is claimed that the man showed no respect for the women passengers on the train, and conducted himself in a very obnoxious manner generally, until he decided that the brakeman should come in for a share of the abuse.

When the man began to abuse the brakeman he was ordered to stop it at once. This is said to have aroused the man until his attitude became such that the brakeman could not resist the temptation of knocking the man down, which he did without a moment's hesitation, putting him hors de combat for some little time.

The man left the train at this place and is said to have created a scene by the language employed. The police are investigating the affair.

Alleged Scottish Kings.

Jests innumerable have been showered upon the hundred portraits of alleged Scottish kings, with a strong family likeness, especially about the nose, which adorn Holyrood—kings, as Scott says, "who, if they ever flourished at all, lived several hundred years before the invention of painting in oil colors." The late Mr. W. C. Hazlitt, recalls the London Chronicle, had a story of a visitor who showed him over the palace, "Did you do these?" She shook her head as gravely, and he added, "You might have done better."

LURING A LANCEHEAD.

Presence of Mind In Dealing With a Deadly Serpent.

In a French paper is told a curious serpent story, the scene of which was the island of Martinique and the dramatic personae Sergeant Legrand and Private Durand and the snake a deadly lancehead.

The soldier had been punished with a night in the cells for some trivial offense, but as the night was very hot the sergeant had left the door open. In the morning at 5 o'clock Legrand went to wake his prisoner and, to his horror, beheld a lancehead snake coiled up and fast asleep on the man's breast.

The sergeant did not lose his presence of mind. He stole noiselessly away, ran to the guard room and, followed by all the men on duty, returned to the cell with a bowl of milk and a tin whistle. Placing the bowl of milk at the entrance to the cell, the sergeant began to play the "Blue Danube." It is needless to remark that the weakness of the lancehead is milk and music. The serpent, which was a six foot specimen, awoke, glided from the soldier's body toward the bowl, but it had no sooner buried its head in its beloved drink than ten cudgels descended on it with terrific force, killing it outright.

The soldier, Durand, who was in a swoon, was taken to hospital, where he lay for many days on the verge of madness. He finally recovered and related his horrible experience—how he had awoke in the middle of the night as the serpent was coiling itself on his bare breast and how he had lain there in an agony for hours, not daring to move a muscle.

General Attack On Paris Near At Hand Allies Unite For Blocking Peace Offers

Onrush of Germans Halted Just Outside of Paris and Experts Believe Quiet Reigns Before The Great Storm of Shot and Shell Breaks Upon The City.

TEUTONS FORCED TO RUSH FORCES TO CHECK THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE

1,200,000 Italians May be Mobilized at Once—Belgians Renew Attack on Invaders—Jap Minister Foreign Affairs Lauds United States.

By Associated Press.

London, Sept. 5.—The English public, hungry for news of the operations of the allied armies in the western theater of war, had to content itself today with the brief official communications issued from Paris and Bordeaux. These only whetted the appetite.

MILITARY EXPERTS BELIEVE THE GERMANS ARE PREPARING FOR A GRAND ASSAULT UPON PARIS IN THE HOPE OF BEARING DOWN THE DEFENSE OF THE CAPITAL.

News of the withdrawal of the German troops towards the Prussian frontier is not generally credited here because with their supreme effort in the west as a primary object the Germans are hardly likely to weaken their forces.

News from northern Belgium indicates that the Belgian troops are recovering from the gruelling punishment inflicted upon them by the German invaders and are resuming their activities.

The Petrograd war office now estimates that the Russian victories in Galicia and the Servian victory at Jadar have so crippled the forces of the dual monarchy that only ten Russian army corps are needed to keep the Austrians in check.

If Paris falls the effect already has been more or less discounted in London as the war office has managed to convey the impression to the public that the capture of the French capital means only the prolongation of the war.

This phase of the situation, brought home to the British public, has unquestionably stimulated recruiting. There is no indication that the allies in the west intend to assume the aggressive. On the other hand, the indications are that if the Germans capture Paris, every effort will be made to render it a barren triumph by leading the Germans from position to position in a series of rear guard actions until the invaders are exhausted.

ALLIES AGREE TO STICK

LONDON—RUSSIA, FRANCE AND GREAT BRITAIN TODAY SIGNED AN AGREEMENT THAT NONE OF THE THREE WOULD MAKE PEACE WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF ALL THREE NATIONS.

TEUTONS CHANGING POSITION

London, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Copenhagen, dated Friday, says: "Berlin dispatches indicate that the Germans are throwing troops back eastward to meet Russian advance. The President of the German military staff, controlling the railways, states that the principal lines will close for the present. The rolling stock, it is believed, is now wanted for moving a large number of troops to the eastward. Farther indications are that the points the troops are being withdrawn from are Alsace and Lorraine. All the German railroads are now closed to civil traffic and land communication from Berlin and Copenhagen has stopped.

ITALY TO MOBILIZE FORCES

Paris, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Midi from Rome, under today's date, says: "The order for general mobilization of Italian forces was still unsigned at the moment of telegraphing, but it is expected today.

BIG JAP PRAISES UNITED STATES

By Associated Press.

Tokio, Japan, Sept. 5.—Baron Kato, Minister of Foreign Affairs, reviewed at length, at the opening of the Diet today, the events leading up to the war with Germany.

He said that early in August England asked Japan's assistance and that Japan necessarily complied. After a full and frank exchange of views Japan advised the Germans of the Japanese "ultimatum" which was unanswered and war was declared. Baron Kato closed his speech with a tribute to the United States government.

TERMONDE IS DESTROYED

By Associated Press.

London, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam reports that Termonde, sixteen miles east of Ghent, has been hastily destroyed and that railway communication is interrupted.

DEADLY WORK OF GERMANS

By Associated Press.

New York, Sept. 5.—The German cruiser, Karlsruhe, has engaged and badly disabled the British cruiser, Bristol, off the coast of Hayti, according to H. H. Weissner, a lieutenant of the German army and leader of 78 Germans who arrived here today from Puerto, Colombia, on their way to join the colors.

New York, Sept. 5.—The Bowes Castle, a British freighter, has been sunk by the Karlsruhe, according to a cablegram received here today from Liverpool, off Maranhao, St. Lucia Island.

According to the cablegram which was received by J. F. Whitney and Company, steamship agents, the captain and crew of the Bowes Castle were taken off before the guns of the cruiser sent her to the bottom. They were safely landed at Maranhao.

The German lieutenant also said that a Dutch skipper had brought word to Puerto, Colombia, that the Karlsruhe had met and sunk the British cruiser, Glasgow, off the Colombian coast. This, however, he said, was denied by British officials in Georgetown.

Before meeting with the British, the lieutenant asserted, the Karlsruhe captured two British steamships transferred their passengers, crews and stores to the cruiser, and then sent the ship to the bottom.

After sinking the merchantmen the Karlsruhe sailed to a small island in the Caribbean Sea and there landed the people taken from the British ships. Sufficient food for a month was also left on the island. The marooned passengers and crew may be on the island yet, the lieutenant said. He had not heard that they had been taken off.

STAGGERING RESULT OF JADAR STRUGGLE

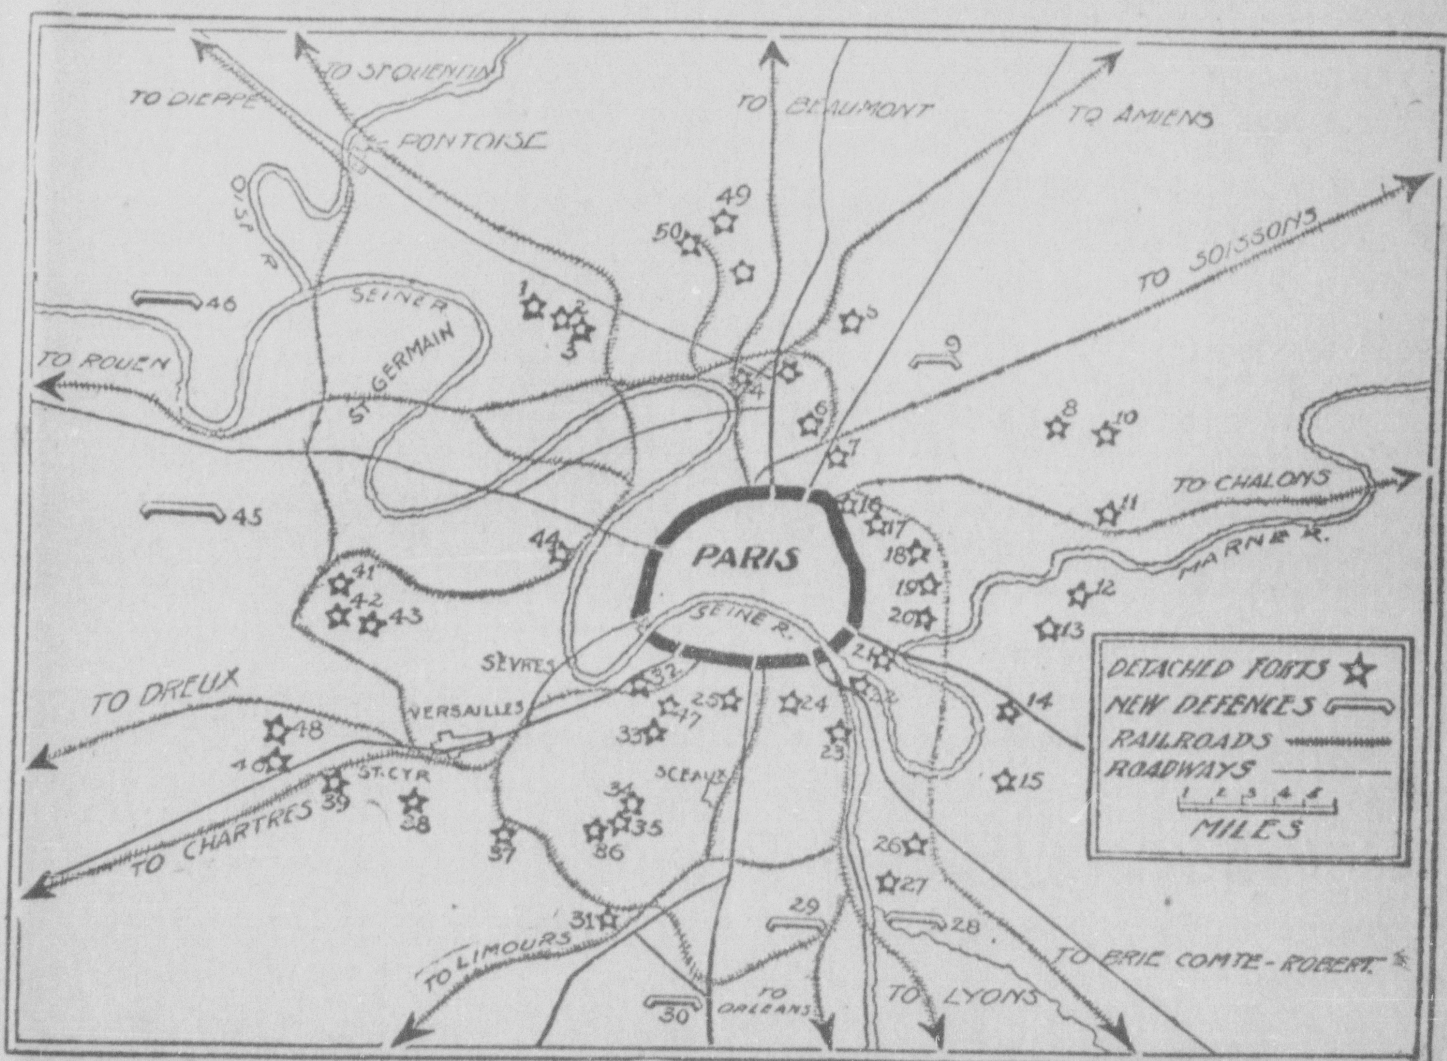

Nish, Servia, Sept. 5.—According to the Official Newspaper the following spoil was captured by the Servians in the battle of Jadar: 100 cannon, of which 92 were field guns; 8 siege guns; 2,500 horses; 3 hospitals of 3,000 beds; 37,000 Mauser rifles; 114 full caissons, containing 500 shells for each cannon; ammunition and 4600 prisoners, including a large number of officers and one military band with its conductor. Three regimental cash boxes, full of money, and one aeroplane also were taken. The Austrian dead are estimated to number between 30,000 and 32,000. General Yovanovitch reports that he alone had 10,000 of the enemy's bodies buried.

SHIFTTROOPS TO OPPOSE RUSSIANS

Paris, Sept. 5.—Five German army corps have arrived at the Vistula river, according to the Rome correspondent of the Paris Matin. These corps are mostly from Belgium and the north of France, the correspondent says, and were brought up to oppose the advance of the Russians.

BIG BELT OF STEEL SURROUNDS PARIS, FAR STRONGER THAN OLD FORTS OF 1871, WHEN GERMANS CAPTURED

Paris is far differently fortified from what it was in 1871, when it was captured by the Prussians. It now has 51 forts and batteries, practically all modern, encircling 600 square miles in a circumference of eighty-five miles. But it must be remembered also that the German army, which is fast approaching the city and probably will besiege it, is far better equipped for bombarding the forts than it was in 1871. Will things balance themselves? Will the siege last longer than it did before? Will it be successful or a failure? Will it occur at all? The various forts working from the north of the city eastward and then to the south, with their positions and elevations, are as follows: Fort d'Ecouen, immediately south of Ecouen, with the Batterie des Sablons in its rear and another battery on its right flank; Fort de Vaujours, at an elevation of 396 feet, a little to the southeast of the Sevran-Livry powder mills and between Vaujours and Courcy; Fort de Chelles, immediately north of Chelles, at an elevation of 345 ft.; the fort close to Grenouillere, a little northeast of Villiers-sur-Marne, at an elevation of 347 ft.; Fort de Champigny, at elevation of 335 ft. above the bend of the Marne and between Chenneviere and Champigny; the fort at Sury-en-Brie; the fort at Villeneuve-St. Georges; the fort at Palaiseau, with Batterie des Galines, the Batterie du Terrier, the Batterie de la Chataigneraie, the Reduit de Verrieres and other subsidiary works in its rear in the Bois de Verrieres; Fort Villeras, about mile south of Jouy; Fort du Haut Buc, at elevation of 542 ft., 2 miles south of Versailles; Batterie Bouviers (in rear of this and of Fort du Haut Buc are several works, including Batterie de la Porte du Desert, Batterie du Ravin des Boupiers, etc.); Fort de St. Cyr, and mile to the north of it Fort de Bois d'Arcy; (the system of works in that part of the Fort de Marly, between Marly le Roi and Bailly, include the Reduit, the Batterie du Champ de Mars, the Batterie de Vauverterre, the Batterie des Arches, etc.); Fort Cormeilles, at elevation of 556 feet, with a line of batteries and redoubts running for a considerable distance to the south-southeast across the neck of the peninsula formed by the bend of the Seine between Argenteuil and Montigny les Cormeilles; Fort de Domont; Fort de Montignion; Fort de Montmorency, at an elevation of 565 feet.

GERMAN DESTROYERS DAMAGED

Arrive at Kiel in Battered Condition, While Other Warships of the Same Class Are Reported Sunk Near the Canal—Antwerp Dispatch Has German Right Wing in Retreat—Statement of Paris Officials on the Operations in France.

London, Sept. 5.—German troops in great numbers have forced their way to Senlis, within twenty-five miles of the walls of Paris. Railway communication between Paris and Havre has ceased, indicating German occupation in the northwest to the North sea coast.

The military government of Paris issued this official statement: "The movements of the opposing armies near Paris are being continued without contact taking place. In the district of Verdun the German force has sustained some checks. In Lorraine and the Vosges our troops won fresh partial successes. The general situation is little changed."

Two German aeroplane scouts were reported killed in a battle with French aeroplanes, five miles east of Paris. Information has been received by the war press bureau that seven German torpedo boat destroyers have arrived at Kiel badly damaged. It is understood that other vessels of the same class were sunk near the Kiel canal.

Every able-bodied Briton of military age was called upon by Premier Asquith to rally to the national standard. Recruiting in England has improved so that divisions totaling 120,000 men are practically fully organized.

British, French and Belgian wounded are being transferred from Paris to cities in the south of France. The exodus of noncombatants from Paris assumes huge proportions. Every train for the south was crowded with refugees to its fullest capacity.

Struck a Mine.

The British torpedo gunboat Speedy struck a mine in the North sea and, presumably, has been lost.

A dispatch from Ostend says that it is reported that the German right wing has been checked and that the Germans have been compelled to retire on St. Quentin.

The Chronicle prints a dispatch from Rous, France, saying that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans in order to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire. This will only be done in case the outer line of the defenses of Paris is passed by the invaders.

A dispatch from Rome announces that six German army corps have been sent from France to repel the Russian advance in East Prussia and Galicia.

An official statement issued from St. Petersburg says that the Austrians are retreating after desperate fighting near Halicz, leaving 4,500 dead on the field, and that the Austrian attack in front of Warsaw was repulsed and that the Russians have now taken the offensive.

The press bureau here indicates a more determined German movement of invasion of France from the east and southeast.

GREAT BATTLE IS IMMINENT

London, Sept. 5.—Paris is awaiting news of the great battle that is expected at any moment to begin around the city's outlying forts. The opposing armies, according to official announcements, have not yet come into contact, but continue their movements taking positions. The war office declares that the Germans have been checked at Verdun and that the French armies have met with success in Lorraine and the Vosges. Thousands of Parisians are taking advantage of the free trains to points outside the military zone. British, French and Belgian wounded are being transferred from Paris to other cities. The principal newspapers of Paris have transferred their offices to Bordeaux.

HARDWARE FIRM IS EMBARRASSED

New York, Sept. 5.—With a credit rating of $2,000,000 and an annual net income of about $300,000, the firm of Hermann Boker & Co., wholesale dealers in hardware and cutlery, went into the hands of receivers because of its inability to negotiate further credit. The liabilities are estimated at $2,071,952 and the nominal assets at $2,658,345.

EXPERTS SAY VICTORY SURE

Berlin, Sept. 5 (by wireless via Sayville, L. I.)—Berlin is permanently decked with flags. Confidence prevails that nothing can stay the victorious advance of the German armies in France. Major Morant, the military expert, expects that the armies of Duke Albrecht and the crown prince soon will reach Chalons and Verdun, which can be easily masked without delaying the advance. These towns have lost their strategic importance.

Toul and Epinal (capital of the department of Vosges) may delay the armies of Prince Rupprecht and General Von Heeringen, but this is unimportant. Raids in upper Alsace are expected while Belfort is in the hands of the French.

The Lokal Anzeiger points out that the taking by the Germans of La Fere and Laon, France, almost without a blow means the capture of a position on the lines where the population had been reassured and which line the latest English papers received here asserted would hold out long against the Germans.

SHARP IS IN PARIS

Paris, Sept. 5.—The Matin, referring to the American, Spanish and Swiss embassies remaining in Paris, says: "It appears that Ambassador Herrick was the first to take the gallant initiative, which Paris will recognize," and adds that Ambassador Herrick, when making his choice, says that Paris appeared to him to be not only the capital of France, but to be like Marcus Aurelius's "City of the World," which must possess a government, perpetual if invisible.

William G. Sharp, the new American ambassador to France, arrived in Paris after an automobile run from Havre. Mr. Sharp says he intends to delay the presentation of his credentials to President Poincaré for an indefinite time, until the present crisis has passed. Meanwhile he will study the situation and will search for a house and make other arrangements for his stay.

U. S. MUST CREATE A GOLD FUND

Troublesome Foreign Exchange Situation Aired.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The conference at the treasury department between the federal reserve board and the representatives of the clearing house associations from all parts of the country, resulted in action which probably will clear away the difficulties growing out of the present troublesome foreign exchange situation.

The bankers were practically unanimous in the opinion that the United States must meet its present obligations to Europe in gold if the precious metal is demanded. No definite plan was adopted by the conference, but a most encouraging disposition was shown by bankers from all parts of the country to cooperate in the creation of a gold fund to meet the emergency.

As the result of this desire to cooperate, a committee headed by James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank of Chicago, was appointed to formulate a plan and submit it to the federal reserve board. No definite estimate is obtainable as to the amount of gold that may be required to meet the situation, but it was reported that the committee was considering the underwriting of $150,000,000.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Shoots Wife and Babe.
Columbus, Sept. 5.—Ruford Hunter, thirty-five, shot his divorced wife and three-year-old son William at the home of William Coleman, a brother, with whom Mrs. Hunter was staying. Mrs. Hunter is not seriously wounded, but the infant may not recover. "I did not mean to shoot my baby," said Hunter in his cell. "That was an accident. But I did mean to shoot my wife, for she has made a ruin of my life and she deserved to die."

State Fair Receipts.
Columbus, Sept. 5.—The total gate and grandstand receipts of the Ohio state fair so far reported are given as $60,512.75, corresponding to $70,846.75 last year. To the $60,512.75 there has been added this year from concessions enough to make a total of $71,026.34, which will be covered into the state treasury. The estimated cost of the state fair is $85,000 for the year.

Ban on War Talk.
Cleveland, Sept. 5.—"This court is neutral. No discussion of the European war permitted." Justice of the Peace Brown posted this notice on the door of his office. The notice, he said, was necessary because a number of litigants of different nationality almost came to blows during the course of a trial in his court yesterday.

Boy Loses Leg.
Kenton, O., Sept. 5.—Lawrence Drummond, ten, was caught under a cut of cars in the railroad yards at Carey and his left leg was cut off. He was brought to a Kenton hospital.

West Withdraws From Race.
Bellevue, O., Sept. 5.—John E. West, son of the late Judge William West, known as "the blind man eloquent," withdrew from the race for common pleas judge.

YEGGS HOLD UP STATION

Glens Falls, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Two employes in the ticket office of a local railroad station were forced at the point of guns in the hands of a robber to open the cash drawer and safe, from which he helped himself to a sum estimated at $500. On leaving the office he fired two shots, one hitting Charles Harris, telegraph operator, in the leg; the other, fired at William J. Moynahan, the freight agent, missed him. The robber was joined by a companion and they covered William Roach, an auto cab driver, whom they engaged to take them to Lake George. Instead of complying, Roach drove to police headquarters. When the robbers realized that they had been tricked the man who had done the shooting in the station fired two shots at Roach, one of which took effect in the leg. Police overtook and arrested one of the men. The other escaped.

A Fighting Year

Although neither one of the three political parties, contending for supremacy in Ohio this fall, has formally "opened" the campaign, sensational charges are now being handed out by the various candidates for office with the freedom and emphasis which gives promise of stirring times to come.

It is safe to say that never in the history of Ohio politics has there been such a breaking away from party lines.

The unusual spectacle of former Democratic leaders openly espousing the cause of Republican candidates and of avowed Republicans taking up the cudgel for the Democratic candidates, while both of the leading parties admit desertions from their ranks to the progressive party, is enjoyable to those who love excitement and uncertainty, and encouraging to those who see in every change in political customs and in every departure from political precedent a hopeful sign of progress.

That there will be much doing in political circles in Ohio this fall and that the light will be let into a number of places which have hitherto remained dark, is accepted as a foregone conclusion, in view of the way sensation after sensation has already, in advance of the beginning of the formal campaign, been sprung.

There will be, if the present plans of campaign are carried out, many unexplored regions opened to public inspection and many hidden lead strings exposed to view.

There are many open alliances with former political enemies and many secret understandings which involve downright treachery. In all likelihood there will be more "come out in the wash" this fall than ever before.

While it may be an unpleasant sort of a campaign to listen to and while there may be many disagreeable features connected with it, yet on the whole it will be helpful to those who are endeavoring to bring about the observance of a higher code of ethics in politics and in the public service.

The entrance of a third party into the arena of politics with its demonstrated strength and emphatic declaration of principles has been, perhaps, the greatest single factor in breaking the old political alignments and creating the present chaos in Ohio politics.

There seems to be something in the air this year nineteen fourteen, which makes men want to fight anyway, and while the people of other nations are caught in the maelstrom of war, Americans seem to be finding an outlet for their inclination to fight in the field of politics.

A new political line-up in this country is overdue now. Most of the old political issues upon which Democrats and Republicans took opposite sides for so many years, have been settled or brushed aside. There are many men today who have been calling themselves Democrats who are in fact, Republicans, and vice versa.

Really there is now, and has been for some time, only one vital difference between the voters of this country. In these times one must either be a progressive or a reactionary and it is the effort of the voters to line up on either side of the one big issue which is causing most of the commotion. The one big issue refuses to longer be concealed in a mass of trivialities and evasions about issues which are no longer of interest.

It is the effort of the two older political parties to cast out the discordant elements, more than a difference over old issues, which is causing the commotion.

The men who pursue political pelf are finding it difficult indeed to find a political home these days and until one or the other of the political parties has established its supremacy as the champion on the big issue, they may be counted upon to keep any political port which they enter for shelter, in a turmoil.

Preparedness of Little Belgium Distinct and Unpleasant Surprise For Germany

By HUDSON MAXIM, Inventor of Smokeless Powder

SO FAR AS I KNOW, GERMANY, FRANCE AND ENGLAND EACH HAS ABOUT FIVE HUNDRED MILLION POUNDS OF GUNPOWDER. AND IT MAY BE THAT THE WAR WILL LAST UNTIL IT IS ALL GONE. AS TO RUSSIA I HAVE NO INFORMATION. THE FRENCH HAVE BETTER FIELD GUNS THAN THE GERMANS, ALTHOUGH THE KAISER'S ARMY HAS A LARGER NUMBER, AND THE FRENCH GUNS CAN SHOOT FARTHER AND CAN BE MORE EASILY HANDLED. STILL, THE MEN BEHIND THE GUNS ARE THE FACTORS. AFTER ALL, AND, SO FAR AS I CAN LEARN, THE GERMAN ARMY IS GIVING A GOOD ACCOUNT OF ITSELF, AND I THINK IT WILL SHOW UP VERY WELL AS A FIGHTING FACTOR IN THE PRESENT WAR IN EUROPE.

A distinct surprise, though, was the preparedness of Belgium. There was an idea that the little nation could offer little or no resistance to the German army, but when the time came IT WAS DISCOVERED THAT SHE WAS A VERITABLE ARSENAL and had been making preparations for such emergencies without any of the other nations, I think, being aware of the fact. The Belgium forces are equipped with lots of big guns and are prepared to continue some heavy fighting. IT SEEMS THAT BELGIUM HAS NOT TAKEN MUCH STOCK IN PEACE THEORIES.

Poetry For Today

LEAD US AGAIN.

Father, our hopes are bivouacked in our hearts,
Our fears and prayers are all a-wing to Thee!
Stretch out Thy holy hand, we humbly ask,
And lead us with Thy clear, all solving light
Out of the desolate darkness of our time,
As Thou didst in the bleak, black ages gone.
Give us again the sight that we may see;
Once more set spinning all the looms of Peace;
Rekindle reason, faith, good-will on earth.
Lord, Thy almighty arm alone can quench,
The fire that girdles all the world with woe,
Drench Thou the pyre of flesh and bone and blood
Whose glare reflects the stubborn pride of Kings
And shows the fellowship of man at end!
The flow'r of sturdy nations withers fast,
And fruits of mellowed genius rot in space
In shell swept trench of many battle-fields;
Babes sleep unmothered in their cradle nests
While orphaned children weep in wakeful dreams,
And women robbed of father, husband, son,
Trudge troubled through the dust clouds of the plow.
Christ did not die upon the Cross for this!

SCARED BY A FISH

Or Maybe It Was a New Species of Inland Sea Monster.

A VISION IN RED EAGLE LAKE.

It Couldn't Have Been a Dream, the Angler Admits That. Nor a Bear, Nor a Shark, Though It Did Look Like a Dog, but Anyhow and Luckily It Got Away.

In camp on Red Eagle lake in the Glacier National park, devoured by mosquitoes as big as cultures, as fierce as tigers and as numerous as drops of water in the Pacific ocean!

This is a bad beginning for a fish story. The language seems to suggest that the narrator has already become unreliable. As a matter of fact, phrases which are strictly accurate may be palpably misleading.

The language of hyperbole is needed to present an adequate picture. Perhaps the mosquitoes are not quite so big or fierce or numerous as stated, but they seem to be.

But to the fish story. And the language of vivid metaphor shall be laid aside. What follows is fact—unadorned, unexaggerated fact. I could not have dreamed it. I cannot even now that I have begun to put pen to paper hope to tell it in such a way as to bring the scene with realizing earnestness before the eye of my brother anglers.

It was evening. I was on the lake alone in my little canvas boat. The fishing had been good. I was returning to camp satisfied. The sack of fish, my fishing kit, discarded tackle, the net, etc., lying at the bottom of the boat, it seemed safer to leave the rod to poke out over the stern, the flies trailing the water—out of mischief, as I thought, where they could not get tangled with any of the truck.

So I rowed along gently, happy in the slaughter I had accomplished and wishing my friends had been with me to do their share. And the rod shot over the stern of the boat before my very eyes!

I had the presence of mind not to make a forward dart and grab for it as it disappeared. Such a violent movement would undoubtedly have collapsed my collapsible boat. I sat in speechless amazement, too startled for thought.

And then close by a mighty splashing and plunging. I turned and saw on the top of the water something swimming, a red brown head and shoulders. I was frightened. It was so huge.

I thought of a bear, of a shark, and stories of sea monsters flashed through my mind. The thing was swimming slowly. What I could see of it looked for all the world like the head of a magnificent St. Bernard dog I used to own.

Then I came to myself. I realized that this was a fish of a species not known to me and of an incredible, unheard of size. He had taken my fly, had hooked himself on to the rod which he had dragged overboard and was swimming slowly because he was drawing it along the bottom of the lake.

I chased him. He dived, came up again with a splashing like that of an elephant in a pond and smashed down again. Almost I could keep up with him, so slowly did he swim and so much time did he waste in his frantic efforts to get free.

If I had been able to row properly, facing in a direction opposite to the one in which I was moving, I believe I could have overtaken him. But I needed to keep my eye on him, and so had to backwater with the oars, losing power at every stroke. I was thinking slowly. I was still too stunned to think normally. I was puzzled by the fact that such a monster did not break my frail tackle in a moment. There was no resistance so long as the forty yards of line continued to unwind or the rod to move easily through the water.

As often as he swung over and dropped down on the six foot leader it simply yielded beneath him. Five times he rose, and the fifth time I was quite near him. He seemed to be anything from four feet to six feet long. I have at home a muskellunge which I caught five years ago in the St. Lawrence river. He weighed thirty-two pounds and measures forty-seven inches. This fellow was much bigger and more terrifying. And I have no other means of guessing at his size and weight.

Then with the sixth leap and dive something gave, and the monster was seen no more. I rowed slowly back to camp actually unmoved by the adventure. Literally—and he who will may laugh at me—I felt afraid to be alone in the falling evening light, alone on a piece of water inhabited by such creatures as the one who had pursued me and whom I had pursued.

I was glad to hear the friendly hail of my guide from the landing place of logs which we had constructed, to see the glare of the campfire and to sniff the smell of supper. Then I reckoned up my loss—a rod, $35; a reel, $17.50, and a four dollar line—nearly $60 worth of property at the bottom of Red Eagle lake!—Rev. C. F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., in New York American.

ENGINEERING FEATS.

Clever Tricks With Which Emergencies Have Been Met.

Engineering is filled with so many tricks to meet emergencies that most of them pass unnoticed, but two have recently attracted the attention of engineers because of their real oddity.

One was a scheme for stopping a blazing leak in a big high pressure gas main in San Francisco. Some unknown men who wanted to make trouble set off a chemical preparation on the gas main, with the result that in a few seconds a hole had been melted in the main, the gas poured out and a great flame shot twenty-five feet in the air. It was then after midnight, and it was very inadvisable to shut the big main off, so it was decided to make an attempt to stop the leak without shutting off the gas.

An oil well trick was used. An iron pipe six inches in diameter and twenty feet long was stood on end beside the gas main and then by careful manipulation placed directly over the leak. This sent the leaking gas shooting through the pipe and flaming out at the top twenty feet in the air. Some gas leaked out at the bottom of the pipe, but this was easily stopped, so the only flame was that at the top of the pipe.

Ropes had been attached to the pipe, and finally at a given signal the ropes were yanked and the pipe was thrown many feet away from the gas main. The pipe carried the flame with it. The leaking gas then shot directly into the air from the main, but as there was no flame near it it did not burn. It was then a comparatively simple task to plug the hole until permanent repairs could be made.

The other scheme was to get to the top of a high chimney without using scaffolding or other expensive methods. The chimney rose two hundred feet beside a Missouri power plant, and it was proposed to attach a sign running up and down its side. A little parachute with a stout cord attached was pushed into the chimney at the bottom, the flue gases carried it to the top and then out into the air. It fell on one side, dragging the cord after it. Then by means of the cord a rope was passed up outside of the chimney and down the inside and the chimney top was accessible.—Saturday Evening Post.

GOVERNOR'S CUP COMES TO WELL KNOWN HORSEMAN

Billings Trophy, Given for Best 2-Year-Old Trotter at State Fair, Is Presented to Mr. Chas. Allen, by Governor Cox and is Now on Exhibition Here—Baroness Wins in Straight Heats.

The Billings Cup, better known as the Governor's Cup, given to the winning two-year-old trotter at the State Fair, was Friday afternoon won by Mr. Charles Allen, of this city, and the beautiful trophy may now be seen on display in Craig Bros.' show window, where it is attracting much attention among citizens in all walks of life.

The presentation was made by Governor Cox, amid great applause, after Baroness, 2:24 1/4, the handsome bay filly, owned by Mr. Allen, had won the two-year-old trotters' race, purse $1,000, in straight heats, the time being 2:31 1/4 and 2:24 1/4.

In carrying off the trophy, Mr. Allen was the envy of all owners of two-year-old trotters, many of whom had an eye on the cup.

The cup, coming as it does to Fayette county, not only draws still more attention to Mr. Allen as a breeder of genuine blue-blooded trotters, but all the more firmly establishes Fayette county as a producer of the best horse flesh in the country.

In speaking of the Governor's Cup and the races in general, the Journal of Saturday says in part:

"To Washington C. H., as the permanent possession of Charles Allen, the Billings trophy went Friday. The presentation was made by Governor James M. Cox, after Baroness, Allen-owned and driven, had won the Ohio state fair race for 2-year-old trotters. The filly, a handsome and growthy one, carried the class of the field, in which was Directress Banks, owned by the governor himself.

"By doing the second heat all by herself, Baroness unbottled just the amount of speed that Mr. Allen desired her to show. She obtained a record of 2:24 1/4, seven seconds and a fraction better than that made in the first heat, during which Sidney Forbes was the leader most of the way.

There was some comedy in the race, the first of its kind ever promoted by the Ohio State Fair Association. Orator Forbes supplied the fun by making himself, as several experts declared, the slowest trotter ever in a race. He's a fashionably bred colt, but Friday wasn't his speed-showing day. Steve Phillips, veteran reinsman from the home of Baroness, had him in charge.

Finishing the get-away program was a long task. In three class races all the winners of early heats went overboard. To be exact, 19 heats were contested and lamps were lighted before the final one was started. One driver, D. M. Bell, was lifted, and one pacer, Hal Venture, took a tumble.

After Maud Colby had a pair of

heats in the 2:18 pace, she faded, and The Christian came forward. Douglass Thomas of Paris, Ky., landed his only race of the week when he put Nancy Baldwin over in the 2:22 trot. Glenwood B from London secured the first two heats and then gave it up, the 3rd going to McKinney A C, that forfeited third money by not coming out to start in the sixth heat. Nancy's beginning was made in the fourth mile and she was far the best at endurance.

Things happened, while the 2:23 pace was on. Richard, a la Nancy Baldwin, took the race by winning the last three of six heats. The first two were pipes for Fox M, a Washington C. H. pacer, who tired so badly in the long struggle that he was flagged out of the last mile and second money.

In the third heat D M B and Richard were after Fox M. They tied into him on the far turn and came by boiling. It was a pretty finish with the "initial" pacer winning from Richard in 2:11 1/4. D M B, for some reason or other, barely beat the flag in the fourth heat, and the judges were looking, too.

TURKS HAVE MIXUP AND ONE ABSCONDS

Albert Harb, a Turk from Turkey in Asia, was in this city a day or two ago endeavoring to locate Albert Harb, a fake, who had learned that the real Albert Harb had ordered certain goods shipped, and had claimed the goods.

Harb learned that the deceiver had gone to Chillicothe, so he hid himself to Chillicothe, located the man who had flim-flammed him out of goods worth $45 and tried to make him settle. The fake Harb agreed to settle, but got away, leaving empty suitcases to the real Harb.

The real Harb had ordered $150 worth of Oriental goods shipped to Dayton, and fearing that the fake Harb might claim them at that point, he rushed to Dayton to prevent such a trick being played upon him.

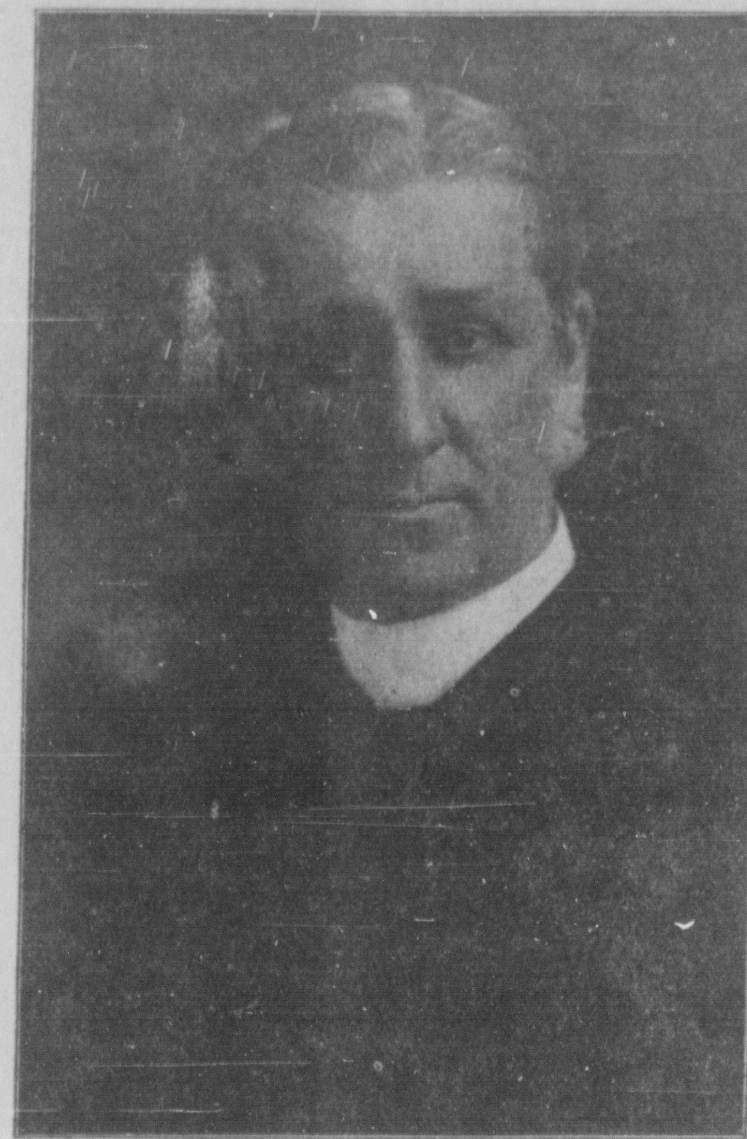

What happened in Dayton has not yet been learned, but the one Turk threatens all kind of dire vengeance upon the other if he again lays hands upon him.

INJURED MEN ARE ABLE TO BE OUT

James Devalt and Seaton Bethard, the two volunteer firemen who were knocked from the roof of the Creamery building while fighting fire Thursday night, are able to be out of the hospital, although both are very weak and barely able to be about.

Bruised and sprained back and shoulders will prevent the men from working for some time. Neither of the two men can recall how the accident occurred.

In Social Circles

A charming affair of Friday afternoon was an informal Kensington given by Mrs. R. C. Kyle and Mrs. W. B. Rogers at the home of Mrs. Kyle. Autumn decorations of golden rod and marigold were in graceful arrangement and a delicious collation served.

The affair was enjoyed by twenty-five guests.

Interesting a large circle of relatives and friends is the following clipping from this week's Scioto Gazette, of Chillicothe.

"The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Dwinell to Mr. Frank A. White, Jr., of Canton, will occur some time this month. Mr. White is associated with the Geiger-Jones Co., at Canton."

Complimenting her guest Miss Majorie Galvin, of Jamestown, Miss Lucile Chapman gave an exceptionally delightful affair Friday evening.

The moonlight night and the picturesque effect of numerous Japanese lanterns, made the lawn very attractive and pink and white asters decked the home inside.

A "Conversations", proved a most entertaining diversion during an evening of gay social pleasure and music.

Miss Chapman was a charming young hostess in white crepe, with lace overskirt, and Miss Galvin, who is a very pretty girl, wore pale blue embroidered swiss, with coral girdle.

Mrs. Luella Chapman and Mrs. Harry Flee assisted in the hospitalities.

A dainty repast was served. Miss Marguerite Conner, of Greenfield, was an out-of-town guest.

Mrs. Pauline Curtis has returned from a week's stay in Cleveland.

Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Davies have returned from a trip to Denver, Colo., Colorado Springs and other places enroute. In Denver they visited Prof. Davies' son, Mr. William Davies, who is attending medical college and interne at St. Luke hospital for the summer. Prof. Davies went on to Delaware, Mrs. Davies joining him there Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Himiller spent part of last week in Columbus visiting Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Hathaway and attending the State Fair.

The degree staff consists of 100 members and has the reputation of not only being equal to any in Ohio, but equal to any in the country.

Mrs. Richards has a national reputation as a lecturer on both literary and temperance subjects. Her years of travel over the old world and the new, her varied experiences from the homes of wealth to the slums of our large cities, her natural vein of wit and humor combine to make her one of the most able speakers on the platform.

SMALL FROST FALLS DURING THE NIGHT

A light frost fell during Friday night, and in all probability the full moon prevented a killing frost, as the night was very cool, and winter covering was brought out in abundance by shivering humanity.

URGES INCREASE OF LAND FORCES

Premier Asquith Appeals to the British Public.

SAYS EMPIRE IS MENACED

Declares Burning of Louvain, Belgium, a Great Crime Against Civilization, and Refers to Alleged Outrages on the Part of What He Terms "Buccaneering Adventurers."

London, Sept. 5.—Premier Asquith made the first of a series of appeals for an increase of the British land forces. At a meeting at Guild Hall he described the empire as involved in a bloody arbitrament of "might versus right," and urged every able-bodied Briton of military age to join the colors.

Premier Asquith detailed the heroic efforts of the Belgian forces. He mentioned the siege of Liege and enumerated alleged outrages on the part of what he termed "buccaneering adventurers." He declared that the greatest crime against civilization was the sacking of Louvain. "This shameful holocaust," the premier continued, "was performed by blind barbarian vengeance. Sooner than stand aside, we would see this country of ours blotted from the pages of history."

The British prime minister declared that the invasion of Belgium was the first step in a greater policy to crush the freedom and autonomy of the free states of Europe.

The navy, the premier indicated, already was doing its part. It had sealed up the fleet of Germany, he said, and was thirsty for a trial of strength in the open. British warships, Asquith said, had hunted the German mercantile marine from the high seas, and when the few German cruisers which still roam the distant ocean had been disposed of, as they would be very soon, the navy would have achieved for British and neutral commerce a security as complete as it had ever enjoyed in the days of unbroken peace.

THE NEW POPE

Cardinal Della Chiesa Takes Name of Benedict XV.

New York, Sept. 5.—The fact that the White Star liner Adriatic arrived in New York fully armed and was not prevented from sailing in that condition was the subject of a protest by the German-American chamber of commerce.

COLUMBUS MEN DRAWN IN NET

Columbus, Sept. 5.—Four officials of the Capital City Dairy company were indicted by the United States grand jury for alleged conspiracy and fraud in connection with the manufacture of artificially colored oleomargarine. A local chemist and the company's agent at Pittsburg were indicted for conspiracy to defraud.

The indictments are based on the government's contention that during a period 12 years the officers of the Capital City Dairy company have defrauded the government out of more than $10,000,000 by paying only one-fourth of a cent per pound revenue tax on colored oleomargarine, upon which a tax of 10 cents a pound should have been paid.

KAFFIR "BOY" SERVANTS.

They Bathe and Oil Themselves and Then Don Filthy Clothes. Most of the "domestic" work in South Africa is done by the Kaffirs, who are called "boys," no matter what their age may be.

When the Kaffir boys come from the kraals no one ever uses their native names. As soon as they are brought into contact with the whites they take a "white" name. This produces results not lacking in the elements of humor.

Among the house boys "Kulfe," "Fork" and "Spoon" are common names. "Table," "Chair," "Carriage," "Watch" and "Matchbox" are others more infrequently used. There is of record one boy who took the utilitarian name of "Ham and Eggs."

The Kaffirs are very fond of rice when they learn to eat it among the whites, and one stable boy thought he had found the finest name in the world in "Rice."

In some respects the Kaffirs are the cleanest people in the world. They are forever scrubbing themselves in hot water and anointing themselves with oil afterward. But the habit does not extend to their clothes. They will take an elaborate bath and then don clothes that never saw the wash tub.—Washington Star.

AMERICAN GETS FIRST AUDIENCE

Pope Benedict to Hold First Consistory Next Tuesday.

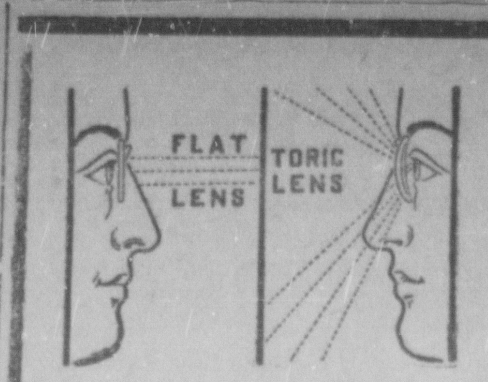

Rome, Sept. 4.—The first act of Giacomo Della Chiesa, who will be crowned supreme pontiff on Sunday, bearing the name of Benedict XV., was to appoint his predecessor's nephew canon of St. Peter's basilica.

Cardinal O'Connell arrived in Rome yesterday evening, the delay being due to a breakdown of his automobile. He has not yet had his audience with the pope. Cardinal Gibbons arrived in Rome shortly before noon, and expressed his gratification that he was the first cardinal to arrive of those who were to take part in the conclave. He attended the ceremony where homage was rendered to the new pontiff, and after the Te Deum the pope insisted on having an audience with him. Cardinal Gibbons said later that the pope had been most kind to him and had spoken in the highest terms of America. "He was greatly pleased that he had accorded the first audience to an American cardinal," said Cardinal Gibbons. "He sent his blessing to America through me."

The pope will hold his first consistory next Tuesday, when he will confer the red hat on two cardinals. The same day the new pontiff will deliver his first allocution, when he will make public the program of his pontificate.

ONE WAY TO PAY A DEBT.

A Suit That Lincoln Settled In His Own Peculiar Manner.

A crack brained attorney who lived in Springfield, supported mainly by the other lawyers of the place, became indebted in the sum of $250 to a wealthy citizen of the county. The creditor, failing after repeated efforts to collect the amount due him, came to Mr. Lincoln and asked him to bring suit. Lincoln explained the man's condition and circumstances and advised his client to let the matter rest, but the creditor's temper was up, and he insisted on bringing suit. Again Lincoln urged him to let the matter drop, adding, "You can make nothing out of him, and it will cost you a good deal more than the debt to bring suit."

The creditor was still determined to have his way and threatened to seek some other attorney who would be more willing to take charge of the matter than Lincoln appeared to be. Lincoln then said, "Well, if you are determined that suit shall be brought I will bring it, but my charge will be $10." The creditor paid over the money and gave peremptory orders that the suit should be brought that very day.

After his client's departure Lincoln went out of the office. He returned in about an hour with an amused look on his face. I asked what pleased him, and he replied: "I brought suit against — and then hunted him up, told him what I had done, handed him half of the $10, and we went over to the squire's office. He confessed judgment and paid the bill." Lincoln added that he did not see any other way to make things so generally satisfactory.—"The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln."

Story Tellers and Liars.

A chap may be a great story teller when he's out at night with the crowd, but he's only a plain, ordinary, everyday liar, without any originality at that, when he gets home and begins to explain why he stayed out so late.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Who Says Hens Have No Brains?

"Hens have no brains," declared the wife of a modern farmer as she chased a fat old Wyandotte toward the roosting place she should have sought voluntarily.

Before I could challenge the woman's statement the hen by a brilliant strategic movement completely eluded her pursuer and with a triumphant cackle disappeared in the tall grass. The method of her escape showed brains, there could be no two opinions about that, but it was her cackle that should have settled any wavering doubt in the mind of her detractor, for that cackle was uttered at exactly the right moment, not an instant too soon, not a second too late. And it takes brains to know just when to cackle.—Atlantic.

TURKEY NEUTRAL

Washington, Sept. 5.—Turkey's intention in the present emergency is to remain entirely neutral, according to dispatches received by Rustem Bey, the Turkish ambassador here. The following is the text of the cablegram from Constantinople: "I hereby inform you that by reason of the neutrality she has adopted Turkish military authorities are ordered to insure by every possible means the perfect protection of merchant vessels of belligerents and of neutral states taking refuge in her ports."

The ambassador said he interpreted this as direct confirmation from his government that Turkey had not declared war, and that she will insist upon her neutrality. He said this cablegram contradicted all rumors of war by Turkey.

The cable was sent by the Turkish minister of foreign affairs and left Constantinople Sept. 3.

INDICTMENTS END CRUSADE

Washington, Sept. 5.—The first definite results of the federal government's crusade against alleged conspiracies to manipulate food prices came when thirty-one persons, including well known provision and commission merchants of this city, were indicted by the grand jury on a charge of unlawfully engaging in a combination in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

It is charged that they had daily meetings at which prices they paid for food products were fixed and that they obtained a monopoly of the local market in foodstuffs which permitted the members of the alleged conspiracy to fix arbitrary and excessive prices.

Attorney General Gregory is gratified at the result of the department's crusade into the recent rise in food prices. He declared that whenever convictions are obtained he will insist on the prison sentences instead of fines. Said he:

"Under conditions now existing throughout the world, capitalization of misfortune and the oppression of our own people by the arbitrary increase of the prices of foodstuffs are so peculiarly reprehensible that whenever convictions can be obtained the government will insist upon sentences of imprisonment—no fine and no civil remedy will be deemed adequate. United States district attorneys are being instructed promptly to ask for indictments whenever the facts will permit, to push these cases to an early trial, and upon conviction to insist upon prison sentences."

BRYAN ASKS FOR MILLION

Washington, Sept. 5.—Secretary of State Bryan forwarded a communication to congress urging that an appropriation of $1,000,000 be made immediately available for the purpose of the foreign service of the United States. The secretary of state pointed out that the work of administration in the department had been vastly increased because of exigencies brought on by the European war. He instanced the expenditure of large sums for cable and telegraph tolls incident to inquiries about the whereabouts of Americans abroad, and said that other expenses had increased accordingly.

OUTFIELDER CONNOLLY, SLUGGER FOR THE BRAVES, HITS 'EM HARD

Boston, Sept. 5.—Outfielder Joseph Connolly is one of the factors in the success of the Braves. He is hitting above .300, and many of his blows are for extra bases, his record for home runs being well up toward the top. He is always enthusiastic and never knows that his team is beaten. His admirers insist that he will have the title of "Home Run" prefixed to his name before he is much older. Connolly is twenty-seven years old and was born in Woonsocket, R. I.

CONNOLLY

TRAGIC SLEEPWALKING.

Incident Upon Which Bellini Based His Celebrated Opera.

Somnambulists can maintain their footing in the most perilous places so long as they remain in a state of somnambulism, but if suddenly awakened they instantly lose their self possession and balance.

On one occasion a young woman living in Dresden was seen at midnight walking on the edge of the roof of her house. Her family were immediately told of her plight, but were afraid to go near her. The neighbors gathered about the house and placed mattresses and blankets along the street in hopes that they might save her in case she fell.

She danced for over an hour on the slanting roof, apparently retaining her balance without difficulty, and every now and then she would advance to the edge and bow to the silent crowd standing many feet below her.

At last she climbed down on to the wide gutter which ran in front of the window through which she had come, with the evident intention of re-entering the house. The crowd watching her so intently drew a sigh of relief. But, unfortunately, her terrified relatives, thinking to assist her, had placed two lighted candles in the room near the window, and as she approached the light fell directly in her eyes.

Instantly the shock awakened her, and she swayed back and forth in her perilous position; then, with a frightful scream, she fell headlong to the ground. She was fatally hurt and died in a few hours. It was on this tragedy that Bellini wrote his celebrated opera "La Sonnambula."

CONTRARY FORCES.

Problem of a Bullet Fired From the Rear of a Moving Train.

Replying to the question, "Supposing, to use an overdrawn illustration, that a railroad train was going forward at the rate of 100 miles per minute and a gun was fired from the rear of the train in the opposite direction. If the velocity of the bullet as it left the gun would also have been 100 miles per minute had the gun been discharged by a person standing on solid ground, would the bullet leave the gun at all, and if so, at what rate of speed?" Edgar Lucien Larkin in the New York American says:

"The bullet would leave the muzzle of the gun with a speed of 100 miles per minute; the force of the explosive in the gun is the cause of the motion of the bullet, not that of the train. At the exact end of one minute the rear of the train and the bullet would be 200 miles apart. Before the gun is fired the bullet is moving with the train; at time of firing the bullet is at rest during an infinitesimal of time or a differential of time. The time in between the stopping of the motion of the bullet with the train and beginning of motion from the train is mathematically called a consecutive state and is such an important element of human knowledge that the highest branch of mathematics, the differential calculus, only is able to completely explore its wonderful properties."

EMERALD ISLE.

It was Dr. W. Drennan who, on account of its verdure, first called Ireland the Emerald Isle in his poem.

Old Book Advertisement.

The advertising of children's books does not seem to have advanced in ingenuity since the time of old John Newbery. Here is a specimen of his art from the Morning Chronicle in December, 1767: "This day was published 'Nurse Truelove's New Year's Gift, or the Book of Books For Children,' adorned with cuts and designed as a present for every little boy who would become a great man and ride upon a fine horse and to every little girl who would become a great woman and ride in a lord mayor's gilt coach. Printed for the author, who has ordered these books to be given gratis to all little boys and girls at the Bible and Sun in St. Paul's churchyard, they paying for the binding, which is only twopence each book."—London Chronicle.

Strict About Guns.

Any one who handles a gun in Germany is held to more strict accountability than in America. A member of a hunting party in Prussian Saxony asked permission of a comrade to examine his gun. The owner handed it over, and while the man was examining it the gun was discharged, instantly killing a young woman standing near by. The owner of the gun was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, while the man who was handling the gun has to serve only a six months' term. The court held that the owner was criminally negligent in not withdrawing the cartridge. The man who held the weapon was treated more leniently because he was an inexperienced hunter.

No Particular Hurry.

Brown and his wife were at a moving picture show. In the play on the screen the villain had just thrown the hero from a high cliff. "Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Brown, "I hope the officers hurry up and catch the wretch!" "Have patience, dear," said her husband. "The operator is turning the reel as fast as he dares."—Judge.

Borneo's Animal Curiosities.

In Borneo winged creatures are encountered where one would least expect them. Flying fish the size of herrings are found in all the waters, and there is the flying fox, the well known fruit eating bat, which the Malays call "kruang."

Unsympathetic.

"Does Alice bring her troubles to you now as she used to?" "No; not since I began pointing out to her that she was to blame for having them."—Boston Transcript.

Sugar as Food.

With the temperature 62 below zero Shackleton and his men, in their antarctic exploration, in marching took two or three lumps of sugar each every two hours. Within ten minutes of eating these they could feel the heat going through their bodies.

DEVILED SHIRTS.

When Dumas Really Thought He Had Started a New Fashion.

Alexandre Dumas, the famous French romancier, was as recklessly extravagant as he was abnormally stout, and more than once found himself in awkward straits. Indeed, he was often enough without the commonest necessities, even of dress, as when anxious to attend an ambassador's reception he discovered he was without a single clean shirt among his linen. A friend who chanced to be with him at the time volunteered to go and buy one, only to find that none of the shops had in stock a garment sufficiently large to encircle the novelist's generous girth of neck and chest.

At last, when on the point of relinquishing his search, Dumas' friend came upon a shop where a shirt called "the hercules" was advertised. The name struck him as being one of good omen, and he entered. But, alas, they had nothing approaching the size required, unless, indeed, their customer would care to take one made to order of a very corpulent Quartier Latin student, by whom it had been left on their hands. Although covered with little red devils, the shirt was a choice, so the shirt was purchased and taken home to Dumas, who, doubtless entering into the humor of the situation, resolved to wear it at the reception.

"You would hardly believe it," he said afterward, "but my costume was an immense success, and I really think I have started a fashion of deviled shirts for evening wear."—London Tit-Bits.

Ladies First.

"Some day you may be president of the United States," said the candidate who was out getting next to the hearts of the people.

"You won't make any hit with that kind of talk around here," replied the small boy. "We're a votes for women family. Go tell it to sister."—Washington Star.

Where They Agree.

STARTED TROUBLE BRAKEMAN ENDS IT

Considerable excitement was created on the southbound passenger train on the D. T. & L. Friday, by a man whom the trainmen claim had been drinking heavily, and who, it is claimed, cursed and abused those about him in a very shocking manner.

It is claimed that the man showed no respect for the women passengers on the train, and conducted himself in a very obnoxious manner generally, until he decided that the brakeman should come in for a share of the abuse.

It so happened that the brakeman was a new man on the train—one who had been employed in the mining district, and accustomed to dealing with bad men.

When the man began to abuse the brakeman he was ordered to stop it at once. This is said to have aroused the man until his attitude became such that the brakeman could not resist the temptation of knocking the man down, which he did without a moment's hesitation, putting him hors de combat for some little time.

The man left the train at this place and is said to have created a scene by the language employed. The police are investigating the affair.

Alleged Scottish Kings.

Jests innumerable have been showered upon the hundred portraits of alleged Scottish kings, with a strong family likeness, especially about the nose, which adorn Holyrood—kings, as Scott says, "who, if they ever flourished at all, lived several hundred years before the invention of painting in oil colors." The late Mr. W. C. Hazlitt, recalls the London Chronicle, had a story of a visitor who gravely inquired of the old woman who showed him over the palace, "Did you do these?" She shook her head as gravely, and he added, "You might have done better."

LURING A LANCEHEAD.

Presence of Mind In Dealing With a Deadly Serpent.

In a French paper is told a curious serpent story, the scene of which was the island of Martinique and the dramatic personae Sergeant Legrand and Private Durand and the snake a deadly lancehead.

The soldier had been punished with a night in the cells for some trivial offense, but as the night was very hot the sergeant had left the door open. In the morning at 5 o'clock Legrand went to wake his prisoner and, to his horror, beheld a lancehead snake coiled up and fast asleep on the man's breast.

The sergeant did not lose his presence of mind. He stole noiselessly away, ran to the guard room and, followed by all the men on duty, returned to the cell with a bowl of milk and a tin whistle. Placing the bowl of milk at the entrance to the cell, the sergeant began to play the "Blue Danube." It is needless to remark that the weakness of the lancehead is milk and music. The serpent, which was a six foot specimen, awoke, glided from the soldier's body toward the bowl, but it had no sooner buried its head in its beloved drink than ten cudgels descended on it with terrific force, killing it outright.

The soldier, Durand, who was in a swoon, was taken to hospital, where he lay for many days on the verge of madness. He finally recovered and related his horrible experience—how he had awoke in the middle of the night as the serpent was coiling itself on his bare breast and how he had lain there in an agony for hours, not daring to move a muscle.
